Governor Ridge, President Spanier Highlight Luncheon

Gov. Tom Ridge talks with an Amish family on his tour of Ag Progress Days.

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

ROCKSPRING (Centre Co.) — Gov. Tom Ridge made his third annual visit to Ag Progress Days Wednesday during the legislative luncheon. The first two years he was a candidate for the top office in the commonwealth. Ridge reminisced to reporters that agriculture formed the first coalition of supporters for him, and he said it was, in part, a recognition of his exposure to agriculture and agribusiness in his home area of northwestern Pennsylvania. The Governor was also one of the luncheon speakers, along with President Elect Graham Spanier, Penn State University.

"The message we continue to send to the state is that farming is a business, and we need to worry about profitability," Ridge said. "To preserve the family farm, you need to help farmers make a profit. It's as simple as that."

To do this, Ridge said we need to get workers compensation under control, change regulatory control, develop markets, do export promotion, and support research and development. He said all these things need to be done to keep Pennsylvania farms the envy of the

Remsburg New GM At Mid-East DHIC

KAREN BUTLER
Md. Correspondent

HAGERSTOWN, Md.—A. Dennis "Denny" Remsburg has been appointed General Manager for Mid-East Dairy Herd Improvement Corporation (DHIC), located in Hagerstown.

A Maryland native, Remsburg holds a degree in Ag Economics from Virginia Tech., and has been associated with the dairy industry all his life. He worked as a field representative for an AI organization right out of college. He has worked extensively in Virginia and Maryland with dairy records, and is very familiar with transferring records and with cow pedigrees.

Remsburg is well known to many through his involvement in Remsburg Sales Service. The business was started by his father, Doty Remsburg, in 1955.

First-Time Champion Sweeps Kutztown Swine Show

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

KUTZTOWN (Berks Co.) — Stephanie Manbeck picked up two first-time champion ribbons for herself at the Kutztown Fair Swine Show on Tuesday, sweeping the championship market show with both grand and reserve.

For grand champion market swine, Stephanie showed her 243-pound purebred Duroc gilt. Stephanie said when she selected the pig from her family's herd, she was looking for a pig with a "strong ham and strong upper body" to show at the fair. Stephanie also showed the champion barrow.

Stephanie, 18, daughter of Oscar and Sandy Manbeck, Bethel, helps with her family's 600-sow farrow-to-finish operation, which is comprised of a lot of crossbred hogs. She is a freshman at Harcum College in Bryn Mawr, studying dental hygiene. She plans to show at the county 4-H roundup in October and the state Farm Show in January.

At the breed show, Ken Winebark, show judge from Myerstown, was impressed with a hog from the Yorkshire class, a March gilt that had a "lot of muscle thickness and mass." The Yorkshire has a "good old expression to loin end," a really sound gilt that was "most complete in terms of overall style, balance, feet, and design."

The champion of the breeds was shown by Stephen Wessner, 20, son of Harlan and Barbara Wessner, New Tripoli.

Grand champion fitter of the show was Jill Schick and reserve was Justin Wisser. Champion showman was Lynn Lazarus, Jr. and reserve was Grant Lazarus.

Following is a list of show placings.

Editor's Note: This is the first part of a monthly series written by an Amish farmer about the realities of farming as a business. He writes with the understanding that he may remain anonymous.

Introduction

Because of increasing competition from larger herds, modern technology and other changes in farming, many Old Order Mennonite and Amish dairy farmers find it challenging to operate a business that generates enough cash to meet family living expenses and be able to keep the farm in the family for the next generation while still maintaining their chosen way of life.

This is the first of a series of articles written to discuss practical methods that dairy farmers from the Plain Community use to help them meet the challenges of the dairy business. Although aimed particularly at the Plain Community, the methods suggested can be

POULTRY ◆ MARKETS

National Egg Market

ATLANTA, GA
AUGUST 16, 1995

Prices were higher on mediums in the Northeast, and generally unchanged elsewhere. The market tone was steady on the larger sizes, and steady to fully steady on lighter weights. Demand was mixed, ranging light to good, best where featured and into vacation areas. Supplies of jumbos were adequate to tight, large mostly adequate and available, and mediums and smalls were adequate to barely adequate. Breaking stock supplies were mostly adequate for the lackluster demand; the undertone was steady. Light type hen supplies were limited, yet sufficient for processing requirements.

National Grain Market

ST. JOSEPH, MO
AUGUST 16, 1995

Wheat bids continued on the downward path due to lack of new export business and profit taking on the board. Corn and soybean bids were mixed with slight strength stemming from good export sales this week and some crop concerns. Recent favorable growing conditions in the Corn Belt limited gains. Wheat 2 to 14 cents lower. Corn mixed. Sorghum 1 to 5 cents lower. Soybeans mixed. Wheat bids remained weak from good crop conditions and beneficial rains in spring wheat growing areas. Additional pressure was due to continued slow wheat export sales business this week. Export demand has been good for corn and beans this week. Corn and bean crops are looking good but aren't out of the woods yet. Ideas that lower than expected yields could occur in some areas of the Midwest if cool temperatures set in too soon. However, right now, crops are loving the wet, cool conditions.

The OLD FARMER'S THIS WEEK WITH ALMANAC

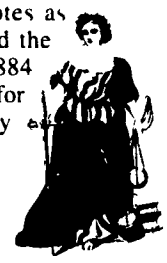
NEW MOON, AUG. 25.

EQUAL REPRESENTATION

Joseph Conrad remarked, "Being a woman is a terribly difficult trade, since it consists principally of dealing with men." On August 26 (the birthday of Geraldine Ferraro, born in 1935, incidently), we mark Women's Equality Day Colorado first accepted women's suffrage in 1893, allowing women to vote in local and state elections; Utah and Idaho followed in 1896; and Wyoming in 1890. The Territory of Wyoming had allowed women's votes as early as 1869. Wyoming also elected the first woman governor in 1925. In 1884 and 1888, Belva Ann Lockwood ran for President on the Equal Rights Party ticket and lost



"Until Eve arrived, this was a man's world." — Richard Armour

TIP OF THE WEEK

With a handful of toothpicks and cranberries, children can pass a rainy day making miniature teepees, tables, chairs, and other structures.

SPICED GOOSEBERRIES

4-1/2 cups brown sugar
1 cup cider vinegar stick of cinnamon
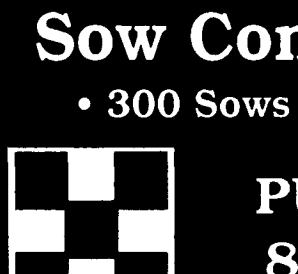
6-8 cloves
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
2 whole allspice

Wash and trim gooseberries Boil sugar, vinegar, and spices in an enamel pot with 1/2 cup water for 5 minutes. Add berries and simmer 30 minutes. When the berries are tender and the syrup is thick, seal in hot, sterile jars.

Makes about 3 pints.



The OLD FARMER'S WEATHER PROVERBS

When the mist comes from the hill, Then good weather it doth spill.

Flies bite more before a rain.

OPINION

Quality Water Supply

This week the American Crop Protection Association reported that the communications agency that engineered the alar food panic of 1989 is working to generate press coverage for Tap Water Blues Two. This new report is rumored to focus on the condition of tap water in 30 Midwest cities and municipalities with emphasis on the triazine herbicides atrazine, cyanazine, and simazine.

Fortunatly, we believe the general press has become much more aware of the health scare industry and is beginning to dig a little deeper into these stories to give a much more balanced approach to such reports. Remember when eggs and butter were bad for your health? Now that the proper scientific perspective has been put in place, these down-on-the-farm products are highly recommended for good nutritional diets. Farmers knew this. Now the general public knows this too.

As for the water situation, Dr. David Baker, director of the water quality laboratory, Heidelberg College, says that even in those relatively few situations where pesticide concentrations exceed drinking water standards, adverse health effects are unlikely because of the safety factors incorporated in the standards. Over an average life span of 70 years, a person would have to drink thousands of gallons of tap water each day to even approach the maximum contaminant level for a typical corn or soybean herbicide.

Many other countries would love to have the quality water supply we have in America.

Now Is The Time

By John Schwartz

Lancaster County Agricultural Agent

To Prevent Environmental Mastitis

Glenn Shirk, extension dairy agent, reminds us as cows seek shade and water in order to stay comfortable during the hot days of summer, they may turn loitering areas into a sloppy mess. This will increase the risk of environmental mastitis.

The goal should be to keep cows' udders clean and dry.

Remember, environmental organisms thrive in warm, moist conditions in the presence of organic matter. The more organisms that teat ends and feet are exposed to, the greater the risk of mastitis and hoof infections.

To minimize the risk of these problems, do not allow cows to linger longer in any one spot. Rotate pastures frequently. Fence them away from streams and wet areas. Provide good drainage around water areas.

Shade in pasture areas can do more harm than good if the shade is a sloppy area because of overcrowding and poor drainage and draws cattle away from feeding and watering areas.

Keep stalls bedded, clean, and dry. Dry wipe teats and fully immerse them in an effective sanitizer before milking. Also, provide cows with a clean, dry maternity area.

To Consider Early Fall Alfalfa Management

Fall is almost here and the annual concerns of proper alfalfa fall management are upon us. When should it be harvested and how do I maximize the life of the stand are questions many farmers are asking.

According to Robert Anderson, extension agronomy agent, during September and early October, weather conditions remain favorable for alfalfa growth. Fields are usually tall enough to harvest.

The key consideration is the impact that a fall harvest will have on winter survival. The shortening day length and cooler temperatures tell the winter hardy varieties of alfalfa to develop cold resistance. During this hardening process, plants reduce top growth and increase the amount of carbohydrates in the roots.

This carbohydrate storage is important. In the spring, the carbohydrates stored in the roots are responsible for the first six inches of growth.

Winter survival and spring regrowth are dependent on having adequate amounts of carbohydrates stored by the plant in the fall. Up to 50 percent of the stored carbohydrates are used during the winter by the plant.

Harvesting alfalfa at the wrong time in the fall may cause the plant to use some of the stored carbohydrates to make new fall growth, thus reducing the amount available for spring growth.

To Know When To Fall-Harvest Alfalfa

Good management can improve winter survival of alfalfa. If the alfalfa field has come into bloom this fall, it should be harvested.

Normally, alfalfa will begin new growth after reaching full bloom regardless of whether it is harvested or not. Therefore, if harvest is delayed beyond full bloom, it will do little to keep stored carbohydrates in the roots.

Newer stands are less susceptible to winter injury following fall harvest than older stands. It is now thought that the length of time since the previous harvest is more important than the actual date of this harvest. If it has been at least 45 days since the previous harvest, further delay of harvest is not necessary.

Other management considerations to help improve winter survival of alfalfa include maintaining good soil fertility and proper pH and planting the most disease-resistant variety available that has a high yield potential.

Feather Prof.'s Footnote: "Excellence can be yours if you live by the decisions you make and move on without regret."

I pray that folks read and take to heart, Harold Stoudt of Hamburg's letter to Lancaster Farming.

Here is a man who has donated this development rights to a local conservancy—but he shares his now other feelings as well.

His last paragraph about farmland preservation from the Governor's committee for the preservation of Agricultural Land under Gov. Raymond Shafer was unfortunately the reality. He states that "there are for better ways" to preserve farmland but "unfortunately only one recommendation was taken up—the most costly."

Farmers, as a group, are one of the most intelligent and prachial forces around—I'm sure this committee worked very hard to pro-

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

THOSE WILD GRAPES
August 20, 1995

THOSE WILD GRAPES
August 20, 1995

Background Scripture:
Isaiah 9:9 through 10:4,5
Devotional Reading:
Psalms 2

"But it yielded wild grapes!"

That could well serve as the epithet for much of Judah's prosperity. Such great expectations: such disappointing results.

My beloved had a vineyard on a very fertile hill. He digged it and cleared it of stones, and planted it with choice vines: he built a watchtowner in the midst of it, and hewed out a wine vat in it; and he looked for it to yield grapes, but it yielded wild grapes. (5:1,2).

Judah was probably not aware of its wild grapes. Some people were very wealthy and powerful. With business doing so well they found it hard to take seriously the stern prophecies. Another reason they found it hard to take Isaiah seriously was that religion was also doing very well in Judah. Attendance and offerings were up, and there were all kinds of solemn assemblies and feasts. So, what's all this about "wild grapes" and why would God be disappointed with his vineyard?

Isaiah pronounces six reproaches on the people of Judah, setting forth one by one the "wild grapes" that displease the Lord. The first of these is covetousness. "Woe to those who join house to house, who add field to field . . ." (5:5-10). Yes, Judah has become prosperous, but it is also an avaricious society. Everyone wants more and more and more. Just like us today?

EYE-OPENER

Secondly, it is an addicted society that is out of control. "Woe to those who rise early in the morning, that they may run after strong drink, who tarry late into evening till wine inflames them" (8:11,12). The love for partying has eclipsed the love for serving God. Just like us today?

The third reproach Isaiah pronounces is against moral depravity. "Woe to those who call evil good and good evil, who put darkness for light and light for darkness, who put bitter for sweet and sweet for bitter" (5:20). It is bad enough to sin, but worst of all is the loss of all moral meaning. Whatever they want to do is pronounced "good" even though it is not. Just like us today?

Fourth, it is a society that mocks God. "Woe to those . . . who say: 'Let him make haste, let him speed his work that we may see it'"(5:18,19). There had been a time when even the most sinful person would not have taunted God so brazenly. They don't deny the existence of God; they just don't take him seriously. Just like us today?

KNOWING IT ALL

Fifth, they have become an arrogant society that is inebriated on its own conceit. "Woe to those who are wise in their own eyes, and shrewd in their own sight!" (5:21). They think that there is nothing beyond their own cleverness. They think they know it all, but they really know nothing. Just like us today?

Finally, it has become a corrupt society. "Woe to those . . . who acquit the guilty for a bribe, and deprive the innocent of his right" (5:23). There is no longer any justice and Isaiah says that God "looked for justice, but behold, bloodshed; for righteousness, but behold, a cry!" (5:7b). Who among us would want to deny the relevancy of that woe for our own times?

So all the religiosity, the vain offering, solemn assemblies, and the rituals are an abomination to God for what he really wants is this: ". . . cease to do evil, learn to do good; seek justice, correct oppression; defend the fatherless, plead for the widow" for that's what really matters to God. Just as it is today!

ADADC District 19 To Meet August 30

MIFFLINBURG (Union Co.)—Wednesday, August 30, is the date of the American Dairy Association and Dairy Council's (ADADC), District 19 Annual Meeting.

Dairy farmers from Bedford, Blair, Centre, Clinton, Columbia, Fulton, Huntingdon, Juniata, Lycoming, Mifflin, Montour, Northumberland, Perry, Snyder and Union counties are invited to the Mifflinburg Community Park at 7 p.m.

All dairy farmers are invited to the picnic to share their views on dairy promotion, elect local officers and be updated on how their dairy promotion investment increases milk and dairy product sales. In addition, the new national milk advertising campaign, "Got Milk?" to debut on Sept. 18, will be featured.

To make reservations, call District Chairperson John Walter at (717) 523-6315, District Secretary Robert Pardoe at (717) 524-7625 or the American Dairy Association and Dairy Council Inc., at (315) 472-9143.

Reservations must be made by Monday, August 21, so call to reserve your place today.

ADADC is a dairy promotion organization representing dairy producers in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

– Come See The Action– Stay For FREE Lunch –

CFS corn will be harvested with a CLAAS Jaguar self propelled forage Harvester equipped with a CLAAS Roller Mill which opens virtually every kernel.

We will CHOP, WEIGH and TEST RESULTS of 8 Varieties of WAXY CORN.

Waxy Corn Advantages

1. Starch is more digestible.
2. Gives more energy per lb. of corn.
3. Improves feed efficiency.
4. W8074 had the highest yield in the 1994 Penn State Zone 3 Yield Trial.

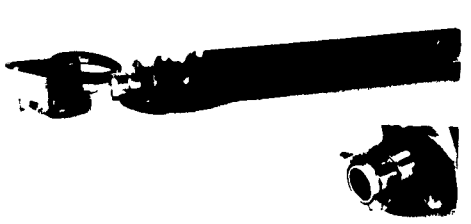
STALK ROLL PARTS PACKAGE ...

FOR CASE IH 800/900/1000 SERIES CORN HEADS

Longer service life is now yours because of an improved lower bearing. A single, sealed, heavy duty water pump type bearing now replaces the two needle bearings and seal. Greasing is no longer required!

NEW STYLE

OLD STYLE



Case IH bearings have a full 3/4" shaft with flat and pilot holes for positive mounting and removal.

Don't be fooled by light duty look-alikes that will appear in the aftermarket!

BENEFITS

- Longer bearing life
- Reduced maintenance time
- No greasing required

AS LOW AS $239.00 PER ROW

FFA Student Leaders To Meet In Capitol

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Iowa collaborated with Arkansas. California teamed up with New York and Texas. And North Carolina shared concerns with Puerto Rico.

Although the state names embroidered on the backs of their blue corduroy jackets revealed their geographic diversity, the 102 state FFA officers gathered in the nation's capitol were united by a common goal: to strengthen agricultural education and FFA in the next year and beyond.

The group, representing each state, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands, attended the State Presidents' Conference to prepare for their responsibilities as delegates and committee chairs for the 68th National FFA Convention, to be held in Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 9-11.

During the recent six-day conference, state officers attended workshops, met with government leaders to discuss the importance of FFA and agricultural education, visited national landmarks, and spent time at the National FFA Center in Alexandria, Va. The conference exemplifies the FFA's emphasis on student leadership. The team of six national FFA officers plan and conduct the event for state officers, who in turn train local chapter officers. Most officers are 18 to 21 years old.

Sen. Larry Craig (R-Idaho) and Rep. Pat Roberts (R-Kan.) lauded the FFA for leadership development in their remarks at a congressional breakfast. The students met with Secretary of Agriculture Dan Glickman and with their individual congressional leaders. The group was back on Capitol Hill for a briefing on trade, education, and the budget with representatives of the Clinton Administration and teh Domestic Policy Council, and a general counsel to the United States Trade Representative.

Jersey Show Held At Shippensburg Fair

BETH MILLER
Cumberland Co.
Correspondent

SHIPPENSBURG (Cumberland Co.) — J. Craig and Susan Wicker traveled a long way to get to the Shippensburg Fair Jersey Show, but it turned out to be worth it.

The Centre Hall couple won honors as the winners of the premier breeder award for the show, which was held at the Shippensburg Fairgrounds.

Pleasant Valley Jerseys of Chambersburg didn't have to travel nearly as far to take home the show's premier exhibitor award, however.

In the grand champion female class, the 4-H winner was Rebecca Cornman of Carlisle with her junior three-year-old Justa-Beauty G-M Jannette.

The FFA grand champion was Curtis L. Reichard of Chambersburg with his junior three-year-old Reich Dale Brigadier Sandra Dee.

J. Craig and Susan Wicker were in the winner circle again when they captured the open grand champion title with their senior two-year-old Four Springs Juno Miss Julie.

With that same animal, the Wickers won the best animal bred and owned by and exhibitor and the best udder awards. In addition, the couple took the open senior champion award with that cow.

The reserve grand champion for the FFA went to Curtis Reichard with his senior two-year-old Reich Dale Opportunity Goldie. Rebecca Cornman and her dry cow Red Hills Bradford Gwen won the reserve grand champion award for 4-H.

The open reserve grand champion award went to Jeffery and Michele Reasner of Shippensburg for their senior two-year-old Barfam Nichols Beth.

The Reasners took the reserve senior champion open title with that animal as well.

In the junior competition the junior champion open title went to Kelly S. Rotz and her fall calf Pleasant Valley Design Sassy, which also was named 4-H junior champion.

The FFA junior champion honor went to Brian E. Reichard of Chambersburg for his summer yearling Reich-Dale Starbuck Angelioue.

The reserve junior champion 4-H honor went to Jennifer Kellerman of Centre Hall for her spring calf Four Springs Imperial Chancel.

The FFA reserve junior champion was Jack W. Rotz of Waynesboro for his fall yearling Wilderness Lester Delight-Et.

The judge for the show was Mike Heath.

world and make them more profitable than they have been historically.

Ridge said he had fulfilled his campaign promise to change DER, sighting the change DER will show on July 1 of this year. DER is now not to be a policeman to catch you when you make a mistake but to help you understand and comply with the law.

"Farmers are the best conservationists," Ridge said. "We need to bring a balance between protecting the environment and answering our economic capacity."

On the subject of state funding for Penn State College of Agriculture research and extension, Ridge said his administration realized that Penn State is a real resource for the entire Commonwealth, but no one gets everything he wants from the legislative and budget process.

"We have a good, working relationship with the University, and we will continue to build on that relationship," Ridge said. "In the situation in the state and federal level where resources are limited, we have to set target priorities. Families have to do this, busines-

1995 College of Agricultural Sciences Alumni Society Annual Report

More than 25 years of service...

The College of Agricultural Sciences Alumni Society board directors, representing a broad spectrum of careers and interests as well as the geographic and age range of the College alumni, are very busy people who freely donate their time to service to their College and fellow alumni On August 18, 1992, a year-long celebration of 25 years of CAAS began Presidents who had served over the 25 years were honored, and a history booklet was compiled and published In July, 1993, the National Agricultural Alumni and Development Association meetings were held at Penn State sponsored by CAAS. This year, May 1995, CAAS participated in the National Service Week project A week-long food drive was held at the Creamery and netted 90 pounds of food for the local Food Bank CAAS continues to carry out its mission of fostering fellowship among alumni, faculty, students, and friends of the College of Agricultural Sciences through various projects and events CAAS committees supported many varied activities this past year, 1994-95

The Executive Committee is responsible for budget and finance, long range planning, and nominations, as well as director training, evaluation of CAAS activities, and improving the image of agriculture A new budget format was put into place beginning July 1, 1994; the long range plan was revised for the next five years, 1994 - 1999, and a diverse slate of nominees for board directors was presented The long range plan and new budget format continue to serve the needs of the Board of Directors

The Activities Committee has a mission of fostering fellowship, maintaining an alumni organization, and preserving the unique experience of the College through activities and assumed the duties of the former program committee The committee sponsored Alumni Day at Ag Progress Days including staffing of the Alumni Pavilion, the graduation luncheon with 760 attending, and the annual tailgate with attendance of 411, bratwurst made by John Ziegler, and the band Bavarian Stompers A new activity, a student/alumni event, is being planned for the future

The Alumni Committee provides means for alumni to support the College and participate in activities such as Affiliate Group establishment, provides means for alumni to be active in College affairs and receive information through communications such as CONNECTIONS and a promotional piece (CAAS Membership Benefits brochure), assures the continuation of the society through membership development, fosters fellowship and provides a means for alumni to be active through networking; and maintains an alumni organization and fosters fellowship through membership recruitment and reunions. The committee helped advertise and support the activities of the six College affiliate program groups (listed later in report) and plans to help establish one new affiliate group next year The committee previously developed a plan to enhance communication and to save money Three yearly mailings are currently being done: a spring newsletter issue of CONNECTIONS, a ballot and APD luncheon invitation issue (summer), and an annual report and tailgate invitation issue (fall), saving the cost of two mailings per year. Support and assistance was provided for Penn State Alumni Association reunions A new activity was sponsored this year--a food drive at the Creamery during National Service Week, May 15 through May 21 About 90 pounds of food was collected for the Interfaith Food Bank

The Students Committee is responsible for supporting student programs and Career Day, recognizing alumni, faculty, and friends, providing the Outstanding Advisor Award, encouraging excellence in education by providing scholarships for students, recognizing outstanding students by awarding Lion statues at graduations, supporting the programs and activities of the College by recruiting students to the College (mainly through NAC), and supporting programs and student activities through students internship awards and coffee house Eleven students were awarded $500 for outstanding internships, Career Day received financial support of $500, Paul Shellenberger received a brass plate and $1000 honorarium as the Outstanding Academic Advisor, and five students were recognized as outstanding students at various program commencements The College Agricultural Sciences Alumni Scholarship Endowment yielded $6,670 to sponsor a total of eight scholarships for the 1994-95 academic year

The Pasto Museum Committee has the mission of preserving experience with the College and agriculture through support of the agriculture museum. Guides are trained and provided for Ag Progress Days and tours of the museum. A fund-raising subcommittee was established for the purpose of funding the endowment and building fund As of June 1995, the endowment contained $24,357.35, and the building fund contained $5, 610

Affiliate program groups provided a way for Penn State alumni and friends to get together and enrich their respective departments and the University. Affiliate groups and their representative(s) to the CAAS Board include: Ag and Extension Ed, Don and Betty Jane Mincemoyer; Dairymen's, Mary Ann Keith, Food Science, Larry Campbell, School of Forest Resources, Albert Schutz and Glenn Haney, Horticulture, Tracey Harpster; and Stockmen's, John Ziegler. These groups provide additional avenues for contact with a particular academic, professional, or extracurricular activity, unit, or program.

*This report will be included in the tailgate invitation issue of CONNECTIONS as a cost-saving measure Please watch for this issue in late October.

Penn State Alumni Hold 1995 Meeting

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

ROCKSPRING (Centre Co.) — The Penn State College of Agricultural Sciences alumni day luncheon at Ag Progress Days was well-attended with opportunity to "catch up with each other." The event was staged in the special events building. Karl Girton, president, conducted the business meeting and presented the alumni society's report. (See full report as a sidebar to this story.) The incoming president, Richard Hann, presented a lion statue with an inscription to Girton for his service to the society.

Dean Lamartine Hood gave the college status report and said Penn State is what the land grant tradition is all about: teaching, research and public service. Hood said the public did not understand this system, and the land grant colleges of agriculture across the nation faced some real challenges.

Research is the generator of new knowledge and the foundation of "all we do in the college." Many education programs are intertwined with research efforts.

"What makes the Penn State College of Agricultural Sciences unique is that research and extension education and resident education is really integrated into a single effort to develop information and transfer that information to the people," Hood said.

The faculty and extension staff initiated $20 million income for the college for research. Private research funds have increased by 57 percent in the last six years. Of course, these funds come with a set of expectations, and these funds are influencing the research emphasis of the college. While the college has a large number of research programs, the flexibility is not as great as in earlier times.

Hood said the new four-year plan of work for extension has just been completed. The stated goals include:

• To strengthen families, enhance children and youth development and build community and invest in human capital.

• To develop the long-term vitality of natural resources and natural environment.

• To help people to become involved in the public arena.

Extension has a significant role in urban area. A new Penn State office has just been opened on Market Street in Philadelphia where the extension office has been for the last eight years. Of the 117,000 4-Hers in Pennsylvania, 12,000 are in Philadelphia and 6,000 are in Pittsburgh.

Resident education enrollment in the college increased 12 percent in the 1994-1995 year. That makes a 60 percent increase since 1989. "Paid accepts" for the students coming on campus this fall indicate another 10 percent increase in student enrollment this year. The 3,000 students in the college of ag makes Penn State the largest in the Big 10 and sixth in the nation.

The college has the best facilities that include a new poultry and research center, new green houses and a new dairy research facility. And unlike most other colleges, these facilities are accessible to students on campus.

The financial situation for the college is not good with the same funding from federal and state sources at 1990 levels. Hood said the low funding is very difficult and unfortunately overshadows the agenda of many people at the college.

For the alumni, Hood said the challenge was to continue to help recruit students and help consumers to understand the contribution the college makes to their well being.

"We need to put the institutional good ahead of personal benefit," Hood said. "I am bullish about our future, and I hope you share that enthusiasm."

Spanier Highlight Luncheon

ses have been doing it, and institutions of higher learning, both public and private, will need to set priorities too. But we have a good working relationship, and we will continue to work with Penn State over the next several years."

Gov. Ridge concluded his luncheon speach by reading a state proclamation honoring Dean Lamartine Hood for his leadership in the development of Ag Progress Days.

Also sharing the spotlight at the noon event was the new president of Penn State University, Graham Spanier. Spanier said his goal is to make Penn State the best of the land grant universities by balancing our mission to achieve excellence in all disciplines simultaneously.

"I am not a believer in choosing sides between these many visions Penn State has," Spanier said. "We have them all; we have always had them, and we lead the nation in the ability to integrate all these visions. That's what we will try to continue to accomplish."

Spanier referred to the dissatisfaction with the state funding of research and extension. "The University's capacity to support the ag community has been constrained in recent years by the fact that state funding for ag research and extension has not been increased since 1990," Spanier said. "We really must have a dialogue about what we want to see happen in agriculture in this state. We need to find a solution for our situation for flat budgets for the cooperative extension and ag research programs."

Hood served as master of ceremonies and introduced many state and local public officials. Among the special guests were Katarzyna Duczkowska-Malyzs, vice minister, Ministry of Agriculture and Food Economy, Poland, and Eugeniusz Chylek, national director of science extension and education, Poland. Penn State has a working relationship with the Polish government to help develop a market economy and provide extensive input into the development of a research and extension program fashioned after our own system.

Officials from the Polish government visited Ag Progress Days and were greeted by Gov. Tom Ridge and representatives from Penn State and the local business community at the legislative luncheon on Wednesday. From left, Edward J. Piszek, Polish/American private foundations; Samuel Hayes, Jr., working with Polish parliment to develop a market oriented economy; Eugeniusz Chylek, national director of science extension and education, Poland; Katarzyna Duczkowska-Malyzs, vice minister, Ministry of Agricultural and Food Economy, Poland; Gov. Tom Ridge; Nancy and William Campbell, private funding, Polish/Penn State 4-H development program; and Don Evans, Penn State extension ag education and coordinator of the Penn State/Polish program.

Vegetable Growers Hand 'Strawberry Surprise' To Ag Progress Visitors

ANDY ANDREWS

ROCKSPRING (Centre Co.) — What a combo!

What do you get when you mix frozen strawberries, ice, honey, lemon juice, sugar, and volunteers from the state vegetable growers association?

You get volunteers serving "strawberry surprise" drinks to some summer heat-sweltered yet satisfied customers this week at Ag Progress Days.

It was a great combination, as visitors to this year's Ag Progress ventured, for the first time, to the corner of Main Street and East First to sample fruit and vegetable treats from the Pennsylvania Vegetable Growers Association.

This was the first time the vegetable growers organization provided food at the three-day Ag Progress Days activities.

The fruit provided fresh contrast to the countless fast food stands scattered throughout the exhibition areas.

People who found the growers assocation stand, said Rudy Grob, a director of the organization, "say, 'Oh, we're so glad to get this.'" On opening day of Ag Progress, according to Grob, about 400 of the strawberry surprise drinks were sold.

Grob said that it didn't take long for word to spread from the main exhibit areas toward the entrance for more to come visit the stand.

Grob said, as director of the Farm Show stand each year in Harrisburg, similar treats are sold, including soups and salads. Last year, after expenses, the organization raised $19,000 at the Farm Show, which directly benefits vegetable research.

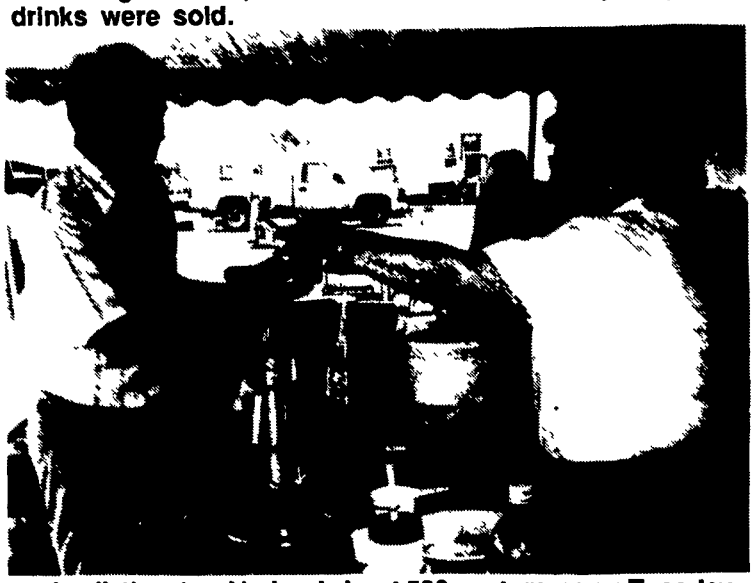
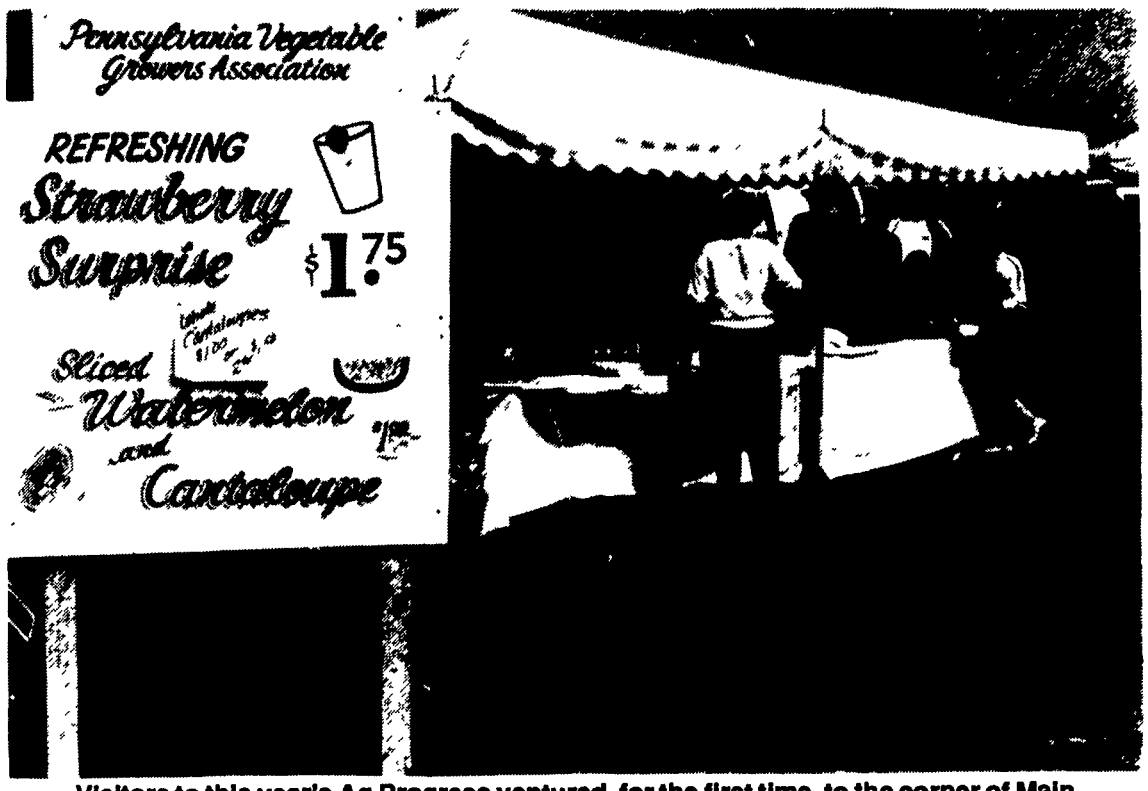
This year the growers offered three items for sale, including the fresh strawberry drink for $1.75 a cup. Also served were sliced, seedless watermelon on a dish and cubes of cantaloupe in a cup, each for $1.

People who found the growers assocation stand, said Rudy Grob, right, a director of the organization, "say, 'Oh, we're so glad to get this.'" On opening day of Ag Progress, according to Grob, about 400 of the strawberry surprise drinks were sold.



In all, the stand helped about 500 customers on Tuesday, with more stopping by Wednesday and Thursday. Those who assisted at the stand included Bill Troxell, executive secretary of the assocation, left, and Vivian Wertz.



Visitors to this year's Ag Progress ventured, for the first time, to the corner of Main Street and East First to sample fruit and vegetable treats from the Pennsylvania Vegetable Growers Association.

In previous years the vegetable growers maintained an information booth in the tents at Ag Progress. For years the growers association board of directors discussed setting up a booth to sell Pennsylvania-grown products to sell. They joined the "waiting list" and were finally accepted to sell products at Ag Progress.

At first, even though the location was at the far end of Main Street and experienced slow sales, business picked up throughout the week.

Grob said he remembered what it was like when the growers started the stand at the Farm Show in 1978. He said business was "the pits, too, until you got a following and they got to know you're there. That's maybe what's happening here, until we get a following."

Some of the most common questions that Grob had to field were "What's in the strawberry surprise?" and "How do you get watermelons without seeds?"

Also, as a result of seeing the stand, the association signed up a grower in Clarion County who visited Ag Progress.

Dairy Of Distinction Farm Winners Meet At Ag Progress Days

ROCKSPRING (Centre Co.) — The dairy of Distinction farm winners assembled in the special events building at Ag Progress Days for a social meeting and to view the photographs of their farms presented by Lancaster Farming. Charles Brosius, Pennsylvania secretary of agriculture spoke at the meeting and brought greetings from Gov. Tom Ridge. Brosius said appearance indicates success and complimented the winners on their efforts to help people understand what agriculture is all about by making their farms look nice. Gov. Ridge's proclamation designated the week of August 13 to 19 as Dairy of Distinction week. After the short meeting, the winners gathered out on the barn hill for a group photograph.

The day proved a success for the growers association, because visitors "had something very good to eat that's good for them, and it was grown in Pennsylvania," said Grob.

There were some special challenges to the growers association this year, including deciding on the supplies needed for the kickoff event.

"When it came to ordering and buying, it was a stab in the dark, because you have no idea what to do," said Grob.

In all, the stand helped about 500 customers on Tuesday, with more stopping by Wednesday and Thursday. Those who assisted at the stand included Bill Troxell, executive secretary of the assocation; Dale and Kathy Whitenight; Vivian Wertz; John Esslinger, horticulture agent; and other Penn State horticulture and extension personnel.

The cantaloupe was obtained from Buffalo Valley Produce Auction and the melons were purchased at Funk's Farm Market.

All the profits made at the Farm Show and at the Ag Progress stand go to Penn State for vegetable research.

There may be different items on the menu next year, according to Grob.

"We're thinking of adding corn on the cob. It would be a healthy food, and we'd get it from the local growers here, so it would be real fresh."

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

LAMPETER (Lancaster Co.) — For the sixth year in a row, Casey High, Lititz, won the grand champion honors at the Lancaster County 4-H steer show. This year's winner, another crossbred, weighed in at 1,160 pounds for the son of Larry and Mae High. High also had the champion heifer.

Reserve champion steer honors went to Hope Long with her first place heavyweight at 1,216 pounds. Hope is the 10 year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Long, New Providence.

The large prize of the day went to Dean Livingood, 15, who was pronounced the best showman of the day and thus the winner of the Intell steer. Lancaster City's morning newspaper Intelligencer Journal has made the annual steer award to the winning 4-H showperson for 36 years.

Dean's brother Dale won the 1994 Intell steer, and before the year's end, two Intell steers will reside at Morningside Drive. The brothers are sons of Earl and Joyce Livingood.

Winning $300 from Lancaster Farming for reserve showmanship was Jill Hoffines, Marietta. Jill is the 15 year-old daughter of Robert and Linda Hoffines. She also had the reserve champion heifer. Jill has been showing for three years and is a sophomore at Donegal High School.

Class 1 (936-1-50): 1. John Schmidt; 2. Denise Bollinger; 3. Ryan Garber.

Class 2 (1060-1130): 1. Danielle Buchen; 2. Deidra Buchen; 3. Abraham Smith.

Class 3 (1130-1184): 1. Casey High; 2. Jessica Schmidt; 3. Jen Lentz.

Class 4 (1206-1272): 1. Hope Long; 2. Jessica Stoltzfus; 3. Amy Hoffines.

Remsburg New GM At Mid-East DHIC

Dawn Hall, lab technician, has been processing milk samples for 11 years.

Although he will remain active with the cattle auction business, and will still do the national sale in Utah, he will cut back on the volume of sales, and concentrate more on club sales, and assisting instead of actually managing sales. He will be a representative of Mid East while at the sales.

"We couldn't have found a better person for the job; Denny is a perfect fit," said Richard Edwards, President of the Board of Directors. Remsburg's appointment comes after a nationwide search. "Fortunately for us we had a gentleman right at our backdoor" who was exceptionally qualified for the job.

Approximately half the dairy herds in Mid East's membership area are on test currently. The numbers fluctuate, but the lab runs about fifty to fifty-five thousand samples per month. Eight hundred fifty-five herds, or around sixty-eight or sixty-nine thousand cows are enrolled, according to the last runs.

One of Denny's goals is to try to include more herds in the program. A good educational program is a good sales pitch, and Remsburg will be travelling some in the membership area in an effort to make people aware of what he sees as the benefits of being on test. "At this time, you need all the management tools you can have. If you're going to be an efficient manager, you need good information at a reasonable cost. As far as I'm concerned, this is good information." He will also make an effort to ensure the quality of the testing process is up to national standards.

DHIC is a non-profit service organization. "We try to cover the costs of keeping the doors open," explains Mr. Edwards, "We're here to provide a service for the dairy farmers. We're not in it to make a profit." Its function is two-fold; it is both a laboratory for the actual testing of samples from the farm, and an umbrella organization for the affiliate members. Samples processed at the lab in Hagerstown are sent to either Raleigh or Provo, where the herd summary information is recorded, then forwarded to the farmer.

Officers of Mid-East DHIC are: Richard Edwards of the Eastern Shore, President, Joy Crothers representing Cecil and Harford counties, Vice President, Thomas D. Remsburg for Frederick and Montgomery counties, Treasurer, and A. Dennis "Denny" Remsburg, Secretary to the Board. The Board of Directors includes ten members from the member regions. There are also two representatives from the Extension Service: Dr. J. Lee Majeskie from University of Maryland, and Dr. George F.W. Haenlein from University of Delaware.

Denny Remsburg resides in Jefferson, MD with his wife Marsha. The couple have two children, Darren, 17, and Brenna, 15.

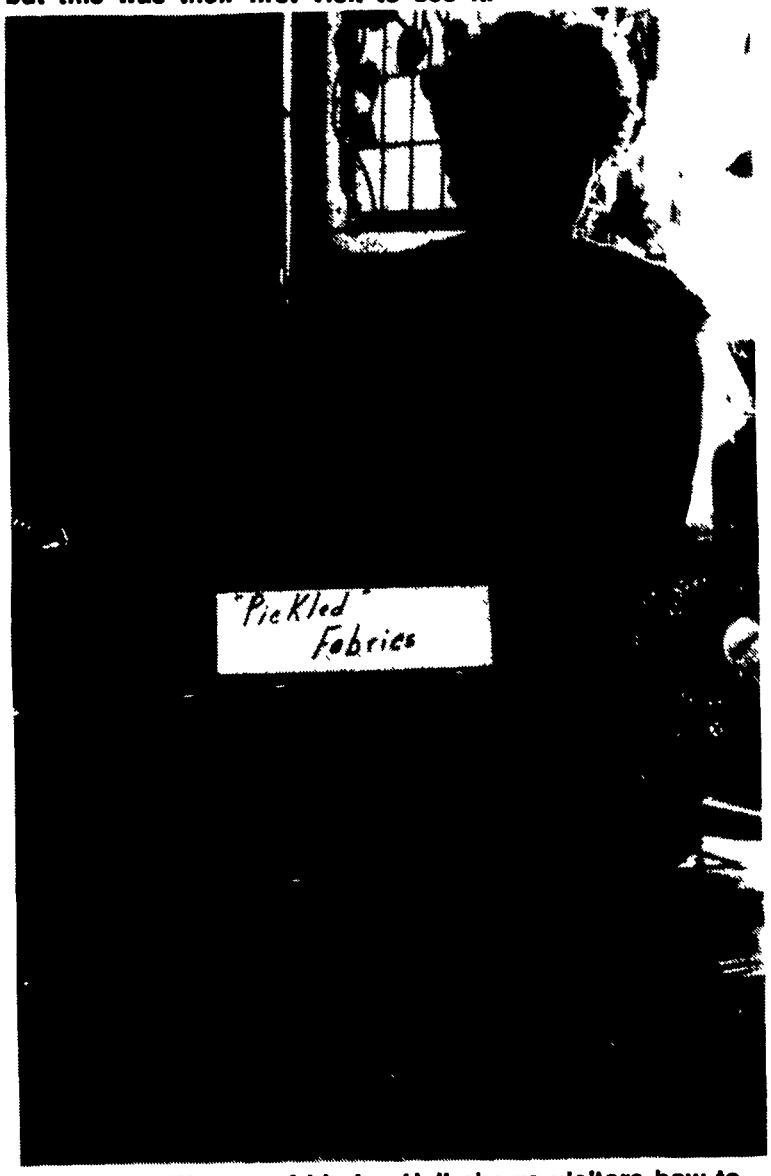
Ag Progress Is "Hot" Spot For Information, Ideas, New Products, Education And More

From left, Mark Killian, Bloomsburg, Karey Derr, Rita and Dave Derr from Jersey Town, take a break. The Derrs come every year to see what's new. "This year," Dave said, "I learned something new about hay baling and the food is good."

The youngest baby caught with the camera is one-week-old Katelyn. Her parents Steve and Sarah Gunther traveled 3½ hours from their New York farm to find out what's new. The Gunthers said that they had often heard of Ag Progress, but this was their first visit to see it.

At the dairy promotion booth, this Winross milk truck was displayed. The truck will be auctioned at the dairy princess pageant held at the Harrisburg Sheraton on September 23. From left, Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Melissa Bicksler, Jan Harding, director for PDPPS; Jodi Colton, Bradford County Dairy Princess, and Emily Clonlinger, Centre County Dairy Maid.



Lavonne Weaver of Linden Hall shows visitors how to make pickled fabrics. The fabric is placed in a solution of salt, soda ash, fiber reactive dye and water for 24 hours. Only three colors are needed to dye fabric in 24 variations of colors.

The Stauffer family from Wolmesdorf finds a spot in the shade to relax. Parents Larry and Joyce Stauffer said they left their youngest son at home but brought four sons who enjoy the tractor demonstrations. Shown are Rodney, 9; Jeffrey, 7; Matthew, 5; and Durelle, 3.

Although these three women didn't come to Ag Progress together, they sought a place in the shade, where they discussed the weather. One of the women said that she was certain it was this hot at Ag Progress several years ago. From left, Myra Lines, Centre Hall; Iola Milford, Wilkes Barre; and Helen Hoover, State College.

Ag Progress Is "Hot" Spot For Information, Ideas, New Products, Education And More

Donna Pifer, right, and Sarah Mae Reed, both or Reynoldsville, said they have been attending Ag Progress since the beginning. According to the women, they formerly toured farms and even got to see inside some of the homes. They believe that more activities for women were scheduled in previous years. "Sometimes we could go in a room and see one workshop after another without leaving the seat. We learned to decorate a whole house with sheets and how to cook different cuts of meat," Donna said. "No matter how busy are husbands are on the farm, we find time to come to Ag Progress," she said. "It hits our anniversary every year, so this is the way we celebrate." It is the Pifers 38th anniversary.

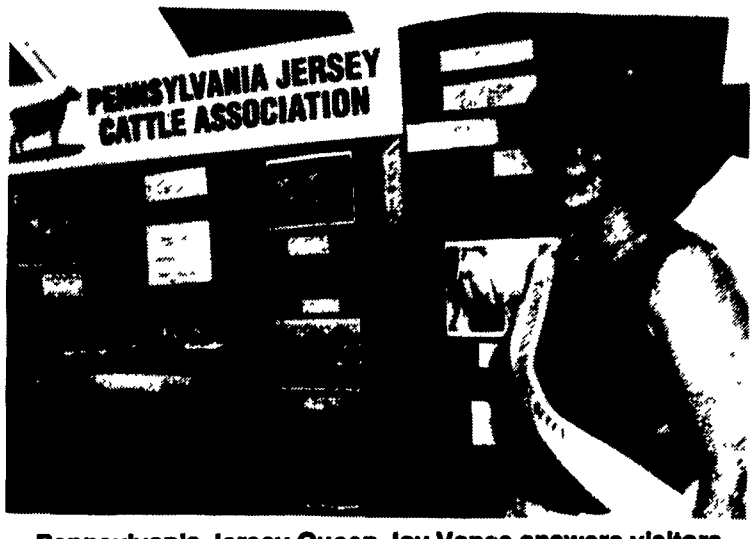
Benjamin Westover, left, celebrated his sixth birthday at Ag Progress. He is shown with parents Joe and Ginny, and siblings, Aimee, 11; Meagan, 9; Esther, 4, and Josiah, 18 months. The Westovers describe themselves as mini-farmers who live in Belleville.

These cousins wore umbrella hats to shade their faces from the scorching sun. Joanna Pecht, right, said that she gathers up as much literature as possible and takes it to her Locks Banks' home for her dad to read. Her cousin is Jody Strausser from McAlisterville.

At the Pasto Agricultural Museum Lina Hood, wife of Lamartine Hood who is dean of the Penn State College of Agricultural Sciences, tells her son Tom and her grandchildren T.J., 7; Emily, 5; Billy, 4; and Cathy, 2, how corn was shelled many years ago.

Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Queen Roxanne Kirst tells visitors about the beef industry.

A quilting group called Centre Pieces demonstrate piecing and quilting techniques during Ag Progress.



Pennsylvania Jersey Queen Joy Vance answers visitors questions about the Jersey breed.

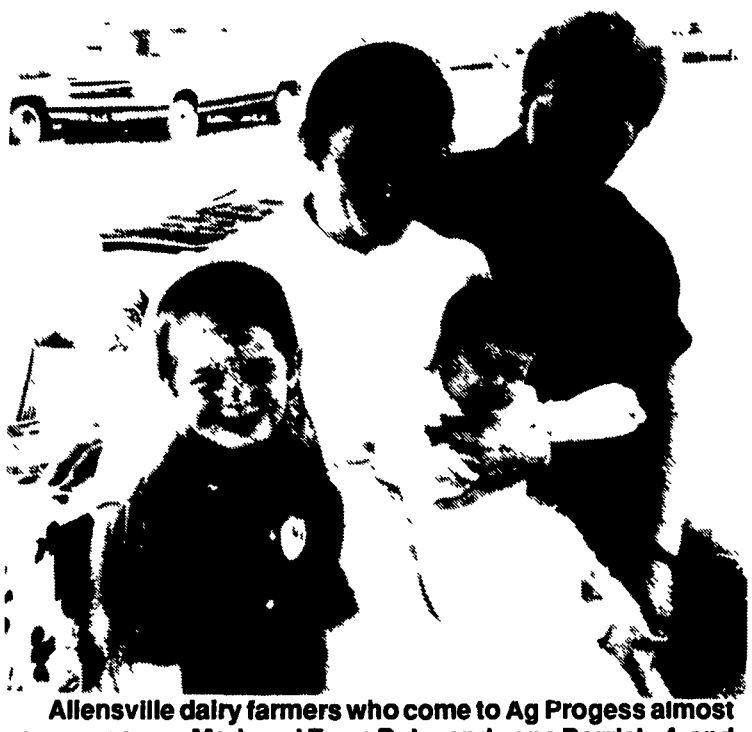
Harvey Harman weaves twine into a basket. He said that his basket-weaving techniques are basically the same as his great grandfather's, who had lived in the Appalachia Mountains. He uses elm, pine, shumach, maple and mulberry to weave and also makes bark baskets like the American Indians.

These three men are pleased with their trip to Ag Progress every year. Otto Ammer of Mercer County said, "We farm 600 acres of grain. We come to see what's new and get lots of technical information. A lot of factory reps are here and they are more knowledgeable than field salesmen. We were having trouble with a baler for over a year and couldn't find the problem. Today we talked to a factory rep who knew exactly what's wrong and what to do about it. Now all we need to do is go home and see if he knew what he's talking about. That alone is well worth the trip." At left is Otto's brother Jim, and a son George is at right.



Allensville dairy farmers who come to Ag Progess almost every year are Mark and Erma Byler and sons Derrick, 4, and Benjamin, 8 weeks.

Equine educational programs taught visitors how to handle and train horses and provided horse demonstrations, presentations, and clinics.

Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Natalie Welch shares an ice cream sticker with Jennifer Coppelino, 11, from State College.

Joan Mellott gives a llama a smooch. The llamas attract crowds who admire the silky hair and beauty of the gentle animals.

Dawn Krautter from Pike County relaxes in a lawn chair by her car. After a break, she returns to take in more Ag Progress events, which covers 500 acres with educational and commercial exhibits, tours, and machinery demonstrations.

Four-year-old David Florry and his 2-year-old brother Christopher were excited about the balloons they received in the Farm Bureau building. Their dad Clarence Florry works at Penn State.

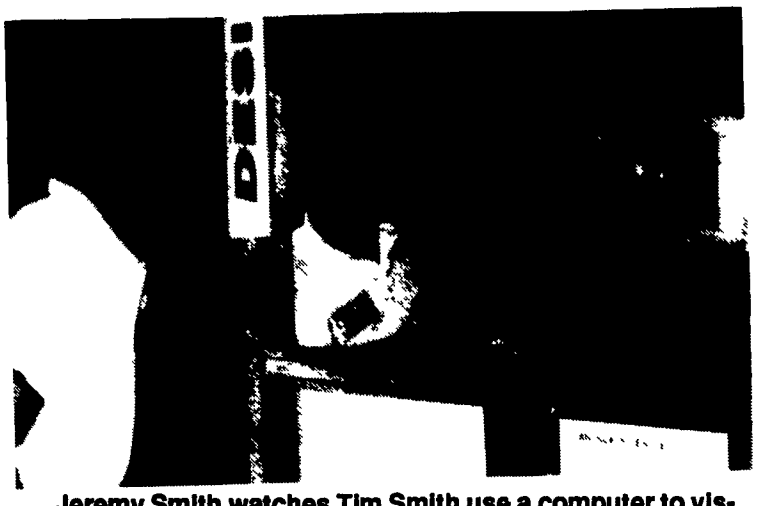
Ag Progress Is "Hot" Spot For Information, Ideas, New Products, Education And More

While Jayne Sebrigth watches Pennsylvania Alternate Dairy Princess Rachel Tanis gives a coloring book to Lucas, 4, and Elliot, 2. The Dillon brothers are from Spring Mills.

Ann Smith, right, and Wilma Rolar from Cumberland County work at Farm Bureau's Women's Committee booth to raise money to establish a canning factory for Ukranium women. Smith said the Ukranium women raise produce but have no facilities to preserve them for out-of-season use.

As the Pennsylvania Draft Horse and Mule Ambassador Katy Biddle of Boalsburg tells visitors at Ag Progress the draft horses are for the young and old. "Even though draft horses are large, they are docile," she said.

Velma Schnupp, left, from Lebanon, and Anna Mary Martin, Fredericksburg, tour the Ag Progress grounds while their husbands mann an exhibit booth.



Jeremy Smith watches Tim Smith use a computer to visualize a landscaping design for a home. The two work together to scan pictures of clients' homes into the computer. They plan a landscape design that shows how the landscape will appear when first planted and how it will appear in 10 years. This helps clients make better decisions in choosing colors and plants.

One of the major attractions on the program of Ag Progress Days is field demonstrations with various brands of equipment. Here the crowd gathers for the tillage demonstration.

Brantner swept the Guernsey competition as well. She won the grand champion spot with her winter yearling, BrandyO Di Victory Priscilla. Then, she captured the reserve grand champion award with her spring calf, BrandyO Mernly Hunter Joie.

In the contest for Jerseys, the grand champion position was won by Curtis Reichard of Chambersburg with his junior 3-year-old, Reich-Dale Brigadier Sandra Dee.

Brian Reichard, also of Chambersburg, had the reserve grand champion for the Jerseys with his 5-year-old, Reich-Dale Sargent Ann.

In the Brown Swiss contest, Larissa Mellott of St. Thomas had the grand champion with her senior 2-year-old, La-Mel-Lo Trad Rad EmmyLou.

The reserve grand champion was Wind Mill Porphet Jamie, a senior 3-year-old owned by Joy Hess of Gettysburg.

Curtis Reichard was tapped as the grand champion fitter for the show and as the grand champion showman.

The Blue Ridge FFA chapter won the Chapter Good Housekeeping Award.

The County Good Housekeeping Award went to Franklin County.

Knepp, Kerper Sweep Kutztown Sheep

KUTZTOWN (Berks Co.) — Judge Paul Wissner of Sinking Spring evaluated and ranked the youth sheep fitting and showmanship classes for the 124th Kutztown Fair.

In the end, newly crowned Berks County Lamb and Wool Queen Nicole Knepp of Mohnton and Richard Kerper of Fleetwood split the top honors.

Richard Kerper won the grand champion showman award, and Nicole Knepp won reserve champion showman, and grand champion fitter. Later on in the evening, Nicole went on to win first place in the sheep blocking and grooming contest in the senior age division.

Competition was fierce, and there were more than 35 youngsters competing in the fitting and grooming contests. The top three finalists in the fitting, showing, and blocking contest are as follows:

Ag Progress Demonstrates Applied Science

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

ROCKSPRING (Centre Co.) — The buses may not be new and have no air conditioning, but tours of Ag Progress Days provides farmers and anyone with an interest in the applied sciences an opportunity to tour the Penn State University College of Agricultural Sciences' 1,500-acre Russell E. Larson Research Station at Rockspring.

Christine Manns — graduate student in the PSU Department of Agronomy with a masters in soil science and coach of the college soil judging team — was tour guide for some of this year's Ag Progress general research bus tours.

She explained that only 500 acres of the research station are tillable and suitable for small plot crop research.

However, on those cultivated acres, researchers from all departments and disciplines within the PSU College of Agricultural Sciences share equipment and sometimes studies to discover new techniques that may or may not enhance the ability of Pennsylvania agricultural entrepreneurs to make money.

There are studies involving grape production, a tree nursery, a special Penn State low trellis system for orchard production. The apple grafts coming from a special rootstock are trained to grow closely and with the support of the trellis to produce much more per amount of plant and also be more readily harvested.

Research is also ongoing into ways to regulate irrigators with sensors to eliminate waste and at the same time better prevent frost damage.

There are patches with pumpkins varieties, plastic mulch studies looking into the effects of different colors (yellow seems to attract insects and potentially may be used to help focus insecticide treatments away from the plants and more directly onto the pest insects.

Trials involving carrots, sugar snap peas, spinach, peppers, tomatoes, melons, raspberries, production of peppers that naturally have low-level heat (called savory peppers, from South and Central America), slicing cucumbers, cantaloupe on raised beds, crabapple varieties that are being looked at for game feed value and also for fire blight and apple scab resistance, potato reseach examining resistance to early blight and

Turfgrass research is a large project at Penn State.

Penn State worker Steve Smith talks to visitors to Ag Progress Days about the types of genetically altered soybeans on trial and display.

Kathy Brown instructs riders on how to give commands to their mounts in order to allow the equines to learn best.

A Penn State Extension publication distribution center is set up and well attended. Public education is the goal of extension and Ag Progress Days.

Tom Weber, with the PSU College of Agricultural Sciences computer services, instructs on the basics of computer uses.

Livestock Sale Brings In $127,772

LINDA WILLIAMS
Bedford Co. Correspondent

BEDFORD (Bedford Co.)—The excitement mounts as the Bedford County Fair Junior Livestock Sale time draws closer.

Lamb producers fill the air with the smell of grilling lamb samples, pork producers provide the unmistakable scent of hot dogs with sauerkraut, and beef farmers rustle up barbecue sandwiches.

A new arena allowed this year's sale to be more pleasant than ever. Gone were the trapped smells, the unbelievable noise, and the impassable seating arrangements.

In place of all these atrocities was the new open, airy show and sale arena paid for by a host of donations and grants. SOm eof the $127,772 raised by the sale was turned back over to the building fund by generous purchasers through resale of the animals.

Bob Sweet, founder and president of Creative Pultrusions in Alum Bank, purchased the champion steer owned by Justin Claycomb of Osterburg. Sweet paid $7.50 for the 1198 pound Angus steer.

Reserve champion owned by C.A. Detwiler of Roaring Spring went for $4.25 to Central Bank.

Generous as always William Campbell, owner of Bedford Ford and the Hoss's Steak and Sea House chain, purchased numerous animals with auction bids totaling more than $10,000.

Grand champion lamb owned by Andy Blackburn of Bedford, went for $14 to Dean Lemley owner of the Graystone Galleria. Lemley turned the lamb over to the Mary Jane Mitchell House, a home for abused women in Bedford.

Reserve grand champion was brought by Hosses for $7.

Bedford Ford purchased the 261 pound grand champion hog from Nicole Over for $6.50.

Mid-State Bank bid Nicole Barnett's reserve grand champion to $3.25.

There were numerous human interest stories interspersed throughout the sale.

Krista Myers had a 108 pound lamb took reserve middle weight honors making her the sixth into the sale ring.

The pretty young lady had to fight back the tears and for good reason. Her younger brother, Kyler, age 5, had shown "Blackie," in the Lead Line contest last week, placing second.

After a summer of leading the lamb around by the neck Kyler was in no mood to let her go to market. He cried, he offered to pay his sister his only $5, and he prayed that somehow God might work a miracle to save Blackie.

Meanwhile, his mother had two co-workers working overtime trying to find some benevolent buyer to give "Blackie" back to Kyler. One of them was Bill Popovitek, Farm Bureau Manager.

The bidding started fast and furious. It was over in a few minutes. Tears were streaming down the cheeks of Kyler and Krista's mother. Kyler buried his face in his mother's neck. The auctioneer's gavel struck at $4.25.

It wasn't eighter of the two sought buyers who had the winning bid. Instead it was a great-uncle of Kyler's, Roy Kegg, who works for United Telephone and owns real estate around Bedford. He hadn't known anything about Kyler's attachment to "Blackie."

When he heard the story, he quickly gave the lamb to Kyler explaining that he hadn't really wanted it in the first place. "I just wanted to help my kin folk get a good price for the lamb," he smiled.

It was a "happy ending" kind of story. Kyler was beaming, Krista had a handsome check, and Mr. Kegg had that deep down good all over feeling. "Blackie" probably doesn't feel too bad herself!

Jimmy Wilkins had suffered an attack of appendicities several days prior to the sale. It took a lot of pleading with his doctor, James Vreeland, to allow him to go to the sale.

Someone else showed his 123 pound lamb. It was purchased by, who else? Dr. Vreeland himself.

Summer Lingenfelter was crying as she entered the ring with her 123 pound, first year, lamb. Dean Lemley saw the tears, purchased the animal for $1.90 and gave it back to the little girl.

Accountant Ben Kendall says he went far over budget buying more animals than he knows what to do with. "If I see a kid not getting a good bid, I have to run the price up," he says. "I just like to make them happy."

Dr. Mark Finder and State Representative Dick Hess each bought a pig for the Bedford County Heart Association to have a pig roast on September 17.

Purchases by the "Road Kill Cafe," brought some laughs as the owner of this locally notorious, back woods, general store/restaurant bought several animals.

There were a total of 59 lamb, 48 steers, 124 individual hogs and 40 hogs in group lots sold at the Bedford Fair.

The grand champion hog owned by Nicole Over was purchased by David Sell.

Krista and Kyler Myers with Uncle Roy Kegg who purchased the lamb to return to the young owners.

The grand champion market steer owned by Justin Claycomb sold to Bob Sweet. With Sweet are Matthew Petrees and Stephen Sweet.

Lancaster Clean And Green Sign-Ups Offered

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Farmers who would like to sign up for the Clean & Green tax relief program in Lancaster County will have that opportunity next week at several township offices. Clean & Green allows farmland to be assessed at its agricultural use value, based on soil productivity, instead of the land's fair market value. The deadline to submit the Clean & Green form to the tax assessment office in the Courthouse is Friday, September 1, 1995, for the 1996 tax year. Lancaster Farmland Trust and Lancaster Chamber of Commerce and Industry staff will offer to hand deliver farmers' forms to the courthouse.

Lancaster Farmland Trust, a private farmland preservation organization, and the Lancaster Chamber of Commerce and Industry's Agriculture Department are cooperating to sponsor the sign-up sessions. Assistance will be provided to farmers in filling out the Clean & Green forms, and notary service will be available.

Farmers who are thinking about selling their farm are also urged to sign up, as new owners will not have the opportunity until the 1997 tax year. In addition, the Trust is urging owners of farms preserved by conservation easements to sign up, as it is not automatic if the farm is preserved. Farmers could still have a shop on the farm after signing up, without tax penalty, and they could subdivide up to 2 acres each year without paying any back taxes.

After landowners sign up for Clean & Green, and after they receive their acceptance notice, they may appeal the Clean & Green figure, including the value placed on buildings. Some farm owners may not receive their acceptance notice until late fall.

To receive a worksheet on how to better understand your tax notices, call the Trust at 293-0707. Trust and Chamber staff will be at the following locations to assist farmers in signing up for Clean & Green:

Tuesday, August 22 — East Lampeter Twp. office, Rt. 340, 8 a.m. - 11:30 a.m.; Warwick Twp. office, Clay Rd., 1:30 p.m. - 4 p.m.

Wednesday, August 23 — East Drumore Twp. office, Rt. 222 in Mechanics Grove, 8 a.m. - noon; Little Britain Twp. office, Rt. 272 (Nottingham Rd.), 1 p.m. - 3:30 p.m.

Thursday, August 24 — Strasburg Twp. office, Bunker Hill Rd., 8 a.m. - noon; Leacock Twp. office, Rt. 340, 1:30 p.m. - 4:30 p.m.

Nutrient Management Program Earns National Honors

ANNAPOLIS, Md.—Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Lewis R. Riley has announced that Maryland's Nutrient Management Certification and Licensing Program has been chosen as one of the top 10 regional finalists for the Council of State Governments 1995 Innovations Awards.

The selection of two award-winning programs will be made by the Southern Regional Innovations Committee in Tulsa, Oka., on Aug. 15.

"This is a tremendous honor for a small state like Maryland to be in the top 10. I think it clearly demonstrates that the Maryland agricultural community plays a strong leadership role in helping to clean up the ground water and streams of our state," Riley said.

Under Maryland's Nutrient Management Certification and Licensing Program, the Maryland Department of Agriculture certifies qualified members of the private sector to join Cooperative Extension Service consultants as nutrient management providers. To date, more than 200 consultants have been certified under this privatization effort.

"We have seen a substantial increase in the amount of Maryland farm land operating under nutrient management plans since we have more consultants available to develop these plans for farmers," said Riley.

The Maryland Department of Agriculture offers nutrient certification examinations twice annually for qualified individuals along with periodic training seminars.

Feeder Calf Marketing Pool Set

MERCER (Mercer Co.) — Quality Feeder Calves to join a group of 200 other calves to be sold as part of a cooperative effort in western Pennsylvania.

Calves will be vaccinated and wormed on or about Sept. 8 and Sept. 22, weaned and moved to a central location on Oct. 6 and will be weighed and graded upon arrival to the feed lot. Animals will be fed for approximately 30 days and marketed in lots according to weights, frame, and breed of cattle.

Cost is $5 per head plus yardage and feed after weaning.

This opportunity allows producers to market calves to a large group of buyers in larger lots.

For more information, contact Bob Calvert, (412) 662-3141; Jeff Fowler, (814) 437-7607; Don Hunter, (412) 287-4761; or John Comerford, (814) 863-3661.

Lycoming County Colored Breeds Dairy Show Held

HUGHESVILLE (Lycoming Co.) — The Lycoming County Colored Breeds Dairy Show was held last month at the fairground with Tom Aerosmith, Peach Bottom serving as judge.

In the Ayrshire breed, Roberta Fogleman, Muncy had the grand champion and Mun-Ayr Farm, Muncy had the reserve grand champion.

In the Brown Swiss show, Alicia Wolfe, Riverside had both the grand champion, and the reserve grand champion.

VanKuren Farm, Montrose had the grand champion Guernsey, and Rebecca Dugan, Watsontown, had the reserve grand champion.

Both the grand champion and the reserve grand champion in the Jersey breed was shown by J. Craig and Susan Wicker, Center Hall.

And Melissa Wolfe, Riverside, had both champions in the Milking Shorthorn breed.

The list of winners and photographs were supplied by William Messersmith, Lycoming County extension director.

The Business Side of Dairy Farming

adapted to any dairy farmer's management style or circumstances.

The topics covered in these articles will include cow management (reproduction, feeding, herd health, cow comfort, available "tools"), financial planning, and crop management. The information on these topics will be related to what is happening on the farm at the time the articles appear so that farmers can put this information to use right away.

Forage Planning

August already. Time to think about the forage needs for the coming year to decide how much corn to pick and how much to put in for silage. Let's look at the numbers—how many animals we will have, how much we will need to feed them, and what the costs will be to buy different types of feed instead of using what we raised.

First, we'll figure out how much hay and corn silage we will need until the next harvest.

We add at least 5 percent extra feed to the totals because it works better to have forage left over than not to have enough. Our experience has been that if you don't plan ahead well enough, we run out of feed just before harvest (hay in May and silage in August) when the prices are high and supply is short. Then we end up paying more for the forage and don't have much quality to choose from.

Another mistake we have made is to feed green corn silage, which throws the cows off feed by upsetting their rumen and, therefore, they give less milk.

The next step in forage planning is to figure out the least expensive way to provide the feed needed for the coming year. Our feed man tells us that with the price of hay it usually is in the spring ($110/ton), and the price of soybean meal where it is lately ($220/ton), it would be cheaper to feed more corn silage than to buy hay.

Also, we need to keep in mind our average yield for corn silage are about 20 tons per acre, 4 tons per acre for ear corn, and 3.8 tons per acre for alfalfa.

From these figures, it looks like we should have enough acres planted for hay and corn silage and still have three acres of corn left to pick. Now let's compare the cost of buying ear corn to buying corn silage. We could buy ear corn at $80/ton and silage at $24/ton delivered to our farm. We will need to buy about six more acres of either ear corn or corn silage to have enough feed for the year with the ration we are using.

•Option #1—Pick corn and buy silage

6 acres X 4 tons per acre = 24 tons @ $80 per ton = $1,920

•Option #2—Put corn in for silage

6 acres X 20 tons per acre = 120 tons @ $24 per ton = $2,880

The difference is about $1,000, so we will make the silage instead of picking the corn. We'll need extra storage space, so we will either have to borrow an ag bagger or make a pile, packing it well and

Collaborative Research

NEWARK, Del. — The College of Agricultural Sciences at the University of Delaware has merged two departments, the department of animal science and agricultural biochemistry and the department of food science, to create the department of animal and food sciences, effective July 1.

The merger, approved by the UD faculty senate and board of trustees, will bring all the departments in the college under one roof. Food science faculty, formerly housed in Alison Hall, will be moving to Townsend Hall over the next month into renovated office and laboratory space.

"The merger enhances the synergy among scientists in the two programs," said Dr. John Nye, dean of the college. "Food scientists now will be able to focus on research addressing critical food safety issues of importance to producers and the public."

Dr. John K. Rosenberger, a microbiologist and chair of the former department of animal science and agricultural biochemistry, will chair the new department.

anthracnose, checking certain biochemicals in leaves that indicate ozone stress, using spent mushroom compost to build up soils, work to develop better varieties of barley and wheat more suitable to Pennsylvania production conditions, research documenting the effects of using vetch as a living mulch with corn (reduces detrimental plants and also provides nitrogen), soybeans, spring grains, tests into sidedressing nitrogen, crop rotation, etc.

All this and more is ongoing at the research station, though without an explanation, many of the plots, festooned with small red and blue flags and different markers, actually look as though someone didn't know what they were doing.

Apparently, sometimes it's hard to tell between a lack of a green thumb and a research result.

There are entomology studies, research using Russian varieties of clover, native warm season grasses, the uses of introduced nematodes to combat clover disease, and detection systems for fall armyworm and corn borer, etc., fill the otherwise regular looking farm fields.

An apple museum, really a repository for apple varieties, also fills out the uses of the land at the research station.

But the college also works with commercial interests, especially when they pay to have trials done.

Some of the newest genetically altered crops were on exhibit at Ag Progress Days.

Soybeans genetically altered to resist the effects of the commonly used herbicide called "Roundup" were on display. A row of regular soybeans planted next to a row of Asgrow Roundup Ready soybeans were withered and dead, while the new genetic variety towered.

(Asgrow has scheduled an open house at 10 a.m., August 29, at a research field day site in Galena, Maryland, to show new research facilities and to show farmers what kinds of products they are involved with. Call (800) 836-3720 for more information).

The Roundup Ready soybeans were created through a joint effort by Monsanto and Asgrow and Seedway, a Hall, N.Y. — based distributer of the new variety.

Of course, there were other varieties of soybeans and corn, as genetic altered crops have been given approval by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration.

Ciba Seeds and Mycogen have both received approval for their genetically altered varieties of corn. The corn has been altered so that it produces its own pesticide — Bacillus Thuringiensis — to ward off the European cornborer.

In addition, to the general research, educating the public about horses has been increasing in recent years. This year, Kathy Brown, manager of Ka-My Stables in Bellefonte, with the help of two aides, demonstrated how to train and develop a horse for the trail and obstacles.

The lessons are clear, and the instructors don't use old trick-trained horses to make their points. They have used some veteran horses and some green to demonstrate some of the differences and finish.

Other interesting, and educational highlights included an hobby entomology display geared for parents and children, a basic computer workshop done by Tom Weber, with the PSU College of Ag computer services, an extension publication distribution center where dozens of free educational publications were handed out.

At first glance, the displays and exhibits may not have the mass appeal polish of a commercial entertainment park, but with each exhibit, there is something new to be learned, tested or tried.

Hay Show Provides Opportunity To Compare

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

ROCKSPRING (Centre Co.) — There were 98 samples entered in 22 classes at this year's Ag Progress Hay Show, held last week at Penn State University College of Agricultural Sciences' Russell E. Larson Research Station at Rockspring.

Marvin Hall, with the Department of Agronomy, is in charge of the annual show, judged by Lester Vough, of the University of Maryland. All entries at the Ag Progress show automatically are entered for consideration at the annual state Farm Show hay show in January.

The show features three catagories.

The first catagory is for hay that is field cured or partially field cured plus mow finished with no heat treatment and no hay preservatives used.

The second catagory is for that hay that was partially field cured plus heat dried, but not treated with a preservative.

The third catagory is for partially field cured hay in which a preservative is used.

There are 10 classes per catagory and they are numbered Class 1, through Class 30.

The grand champion in the first catagory was John Valkovec, of Bath, in Northampton County. His later cut alfalfa/grass mixed entry — with more than 10 percent grasses, but not more than 50 percent — was judged first place out of those entries.

In the paritally field cured division, the grand champion was Robert Bieber, of Nazareth, who won with his entry of later cut alfalfa with not more than 10 percent grasses.

Y Brookside Farm, in Bellevile, also won the grand championship in the third catagory with his late cut alfalfa entry with less than 10 percent grasses.

covering it so that it doesn't spoil.

Making a forage plan is very important. The idea of projecting ahead is so that there are no expensive surprises later, such as:

- Sudden feed changes
- Lack of quality forage
- Buying forage when the price is highest
- Trying to stretch forages so that less will be purchased, but in the process not getting enough forage into the cows to keep milk production up.

The county extension office has forms available to help farmers with forage planning.

In the next article we will talk about herd health. If you have any questions or comments about these articles, please address them to the Lancaster Farming office, and we will be happy to answer them.

Etters Brings Energy To Job

Norma Etters, supervisor of Support Operations, brings a wealth of energy to her job at Pa. DHIA.

Her job duties include overseeing maintenance on all sample route trucks, calculating the driver's payrolls and maintaining the meter-repair area.

Another unique part of her job is being on call 24 hours a day to handle any breakdowns that occur on the truck routes. It is her responsibility to handle the repair of any breakdowns and transport the driver back to the Pa. DHIA headquarters at State College.

Currently there are 83 truck stops spread out through Pennsylvania, New York and New Jersey. Here's how it works.

Technicians gather management information and milk samples while at the member's farm. The technician supplies the member with Westfalia Dairy Plan Reports and transmits the gathered data to Pa. DHIA via phone.

Another part of the technician's responsibility includes delivering milk samples to an appointed truck stop. This truck stop may be at a farm, feed mill, a technician's home or another appointed place.

There are five truck routes that average 15 hours and 500 miles per route. Each route is covered three times per week. Each truck is equipped with a refrigerated unit in order to insure good quality samples.

Overall, Norma is responsible for seven employees, this includes five truck drivers, one relief driver who also works at headquarters on different projects, and a mailing person who assists with printing, collating and mailing of the finished reports back to the membership.

Norma reflected on the many changes that have taken place over the years. She said she remembers the trucking of samples being changed from UPS to the current system. She can also remember the printing of the records at the Shields Building and being changed over to Pa. DHIA providing its own printing of reports.

Norma has been employed at Pa. DHIA for 10 years. Starting as a part-time employee for three years, she was worked full time for the past seven years.

Norma and her husband, Jerry, have two children, Nicole and Jerry Jr. Some hobbies that Norma enjoys are needlepoint and playing bingo.

Having the ability to transport milk samples quickly through the delivery trucks allows the membership to have an excellent turnaround time.

At Pa. DHIA we feel that this is important to our members. Please feel free to contact Pa. DHIA at 1-800-344-8378, if we can assist with your dairy operation.

Ken and Jean Long with most of their 24 grandchildren. Twenty grandchildren and one guest (ages 3 to 19) attended this year's "camp" held at their New Germany home during the first few days of August.

Grandma's Camp

LORETTA GOLDEN
Cambria Co. Correspondent

NEW GERMANY (Cambria Co.) — What do you get when you mix together two caring grandparents, 20 active grandchildren a wholesome "country" atmosphere, and three lazy summer days?

"Grandma's Camp" is the "brainchild" of Jean Long of New Germany, located in Cambria County. Jean and her husband Ken are the parents of eight children. They have 24 living grandchildren and two deceased, and are also great-grandparents to two little ones.

Jean began this "camp" at their home approximately 12 years ago so that she and Ken could spend time with the grandchildren and also so that all of the cousins could become better acquainted with one another.

This year's "camp" began on a Sunday afternoon with a large picnic for the entire family. Mary Rossman, a local storyteller, came and told the gathering the story of "The Lost Children of the Alleghenies."

Jean also arranged to have the current Cambria County Dairy Princess, Marie Lieb, Nicktown area resident, on hand. Marie performed a skit and passed out ice cream treats — to the delight of the children.

Jean is not a stranger to dealinng with youngsters. She had been a local 4-H leader for 25 years. She is recognized for her involvement in the Cambria County Fair. For approximately 20 years she had been the head of the clothing department at the fair — a position from which she recently retired. Jean has always been a full-time homemaker but on some weekends she cooked at the Family Life Center in Ebensburg. In addition to all of this, she still finds time for other volunteer work. Ken is a retired carpenter who enjoys hunting, fishing, and helping his wife with "camp."

Jean's birthday just happens to fall on one of the "camp" days and the grandchildren lovingly "accuse" her of planning this so that she will receive more gifts! Jean jokingly says that the children all call her "grandma," even though for years she has tried to get them to call her "beautiful."

The "camp" is fun for all of the youngsters, who this year ranged in age from 3 to 19. In order to help things run smoothly, Ken and Jean enlist the help of all of the "campsters." The older cousins help to take care of the younger ones. Meal-time is one of the most difficult things to get done but two or three helpers are assigned to each meal. Jean said that she is usually pretty particular about her house but during these three days not too much housework is done — except for the almost continual washing of towels. Bedtime sees children sleeping everywhere — in a camper, tent, front porch, house, and the older cousins in the picnic shelter.

The children bring their own bikes which they can ride — they especially seem to enjoy riding to visit Ken's mother, 93-year-old Clara Long, who lives on a nearby farm. Ken takes the kids fishing, and some just enjoy playing in the nearby creek. Now that many of the grandchildren are teen-agers, they enjoy a friendly game of pinochle with grandpa. The children enjoy other spontaneous activities: bubble blowing (a favorite of the little ones), putting together puzzles, dodgeball, picking berries, and the all-time, hands-down favorite — relay races. Anything becomes fun since they thoroughly enjoy each other's company.

The grandchildren's reaction to the "camp" venture is that they "love" it. Some of the older teenagers could only be there for part of the time due to summer jobs and sports team participation but they still wanted to come to "camp" for at least a short while. According to grandma, the cousins "all get along so well without any arguments or fighting . . . they truly seem to love one another."

When asked what they liked best, cousins, Ben Penatzer and

Attention To Detail Keeps Family Farm Strong

KAREN BUTLER
Maryland Correspondent

UNION BRIDGE, Md.—"How many of you live within a couple miles of development?" The question was asked of participants at the Pennsylvania Dairy Princess seminar.

Says Maryland princess Christina Harper, "Every hand went up. Every issue comes down to, we need to educate the public."

It's clear that this capable, articulate young lady will be an enthusiastic representative for the industry.

"It's traditional to speak to farm groups, but I'd like to do some new things, too. I'd like to address any group that's interested in having me come speak with them."

It's easy to see where Christina Harper, Maryland's new dairy Princess, gets her enthusiastic love of farm life. A visit to Otterdale View farm, the beauty spot near Union Bridge where the recently crowned Princess lives with her family, shows that agricultural roots run deep for this young lady.

Parents Bill and Jean Coshun farm 200 acres that belonged to Bill's grandfather, Joseph. Bill's father, also called Bill, worked the farm in turn. The elder Mr. Coshun still helps out when needed. All field work is done by Bill and his wife. Christina helps with the milking, cares for the calves and heifers, and pitches in wherever she is needed on the 50 cow dairy. She credits her parents with enabling her to pursue the dairy princess title by relieving her of her chores at certain times. Christina has an older brother, not involved in the farm. The darling of the family is baby Joseph, six months old.

Facilities on the farm include a double four herringbone parlor installed in 1971. Up until that time the farm was beef and chickens. Bill utilizes a chalkboard mounted on the parlor wall to note which cows need bred, which might be medicated (those cows are also clearly marked with orange paint), and which are dry. There is also a "check" column for the vet. Another management aid in the barn is a large breeding wheel with each cow's number on it. Pinpointing each and every cow's status down to the day, whether bred or just freshened, proves invaluable in the breeding program.

"It's nice to get a cow bred by three months," says Bill, "that way you can stick with a 12 month cycle. The longer she goes, the less money you're going to get out of the cow."

It is this attention to detail that has helped this family farm stay viable in the face of all the challenges confronting smaller operations. Coshun and his family look at the bottom line when making management decisions. Any input must justify the money spent on it by returning a profit to the farm.

Cows used to be fed in the parlor, but they got in the habit of pushing each other around, and not wanting to exit, so that pracice was discontinued. Now they line up at a trough running the better part of the barnyard. A stationary mixer at the base of the 20 by 60 concrete stave silo mixes the TMR, then it is paddled out into the trough. Two 2500-bushel capacity corn cribs provide storage on the farm: one for corn, one modified to hold small grains.

Manure is pushed off the concrete pad in the barnyard once a day into a 23 by 42 Slurrystore. It is pumped out twice a year.

The majority of the Otterdale View Holsteins are grade, although there are some registered cows in the herd. This, once again, helps keep costs down. The grade cows don't require a lot of money to be tied up in pedigrees, and since the farm is not in the business of marketing cows, this adds to the bottom line. Christina has three Brown Swiss cows of her own in the milking string, and also owns one Swiss heifer. One of her cows, Cookie, will participate in the MD Brown Swiss Futurity at the State fair.

The herd is not on test. Bill estimates herd average to be around 18,000 pounds. "We don't have the highest production, we're not pushing for it." He adds, "And we don't have any DHIA records to meet."

Adds Christina, "They don't do as well when we push them."

Two people can milk the herd in one hour and forty-five minutes. A chlorohexidine teat dip is used pre and post milking. Starting last summer, the cows have been kept inside under fans during the heat of the day, and turned out at night when temperatures drop. Bill says it also gives them a chance to get off the concrete. Christina cites the "...good wearability of feet and legs on concrete." as one advantage she sees in the Brown Swiss.

"We pick our corn here." says Bill. That way they save the cost of having someone come and combine it. "It's all a tradeoff, because we can't pick too many acres of corn. We're a small farm, we only have access to ourselves. One of the things that makes a small farm work and able to compete with bigger farms is that we can handle some things more efficiently." Sixty-five acres are planted in corn.

Fifty-one acres of soybeans are grown. A portable roaster is brought in from Pennsylvania, and the soybeans are roasted before being stored in a converted 2500 bushel capacity corncrib. Yields average 50 bushels per acres. Bill is working with a nutritionist from Glade Valley Feed and Supply who helps balance the ration and tests forages. About 35 acres of hay are grown. Storage facilities favor square bales, although some hay is made in big round bales, and some also goes for haylage.

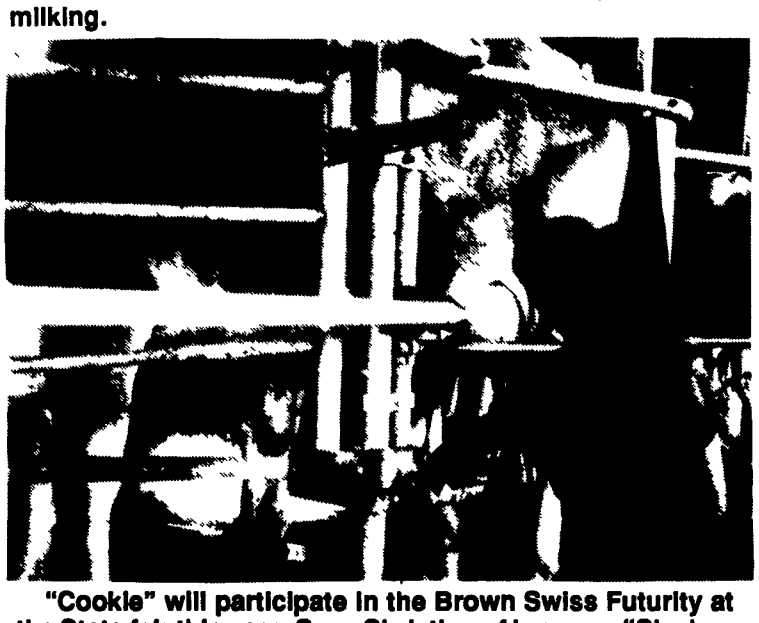
Another facet of the farm is the 28 acres of choose-and-cut Christmas trees planted in what was once meadow. For only $15, the public can experience the beauty of the farm at Christmas time as they come cut their own trees. Otterdale View is also the largest producer of Christmas wreaths in Carroll County, selling wholesale as well as direct marketing from the farm.

"I would like to see dairy farmers setting an example and drinking their milk, especially in public. Little things like that help," says the resident dairy princess.

She offers this insight into her role, "A lot of the controversial issues that farmers have to deal with now all come down to consumers and the public being uneducated about the dairy industry, they don't understand it. I think that it's my job as dairy princess to educate. We can all try to educate people, especially on environmental issues. We want people to understand that we're stewards of the land."

Bill and Jean Coshun, Christina, and baby Joseph enjoy the shade this porch provides from the hot summer sun. The family built their log home on the farm about four years ago.

Christina's chores include calf and heifer care, as well as milking.



"Cookie" will participate in the Brown Swiss Futurity at the State fair this year. Says Christina of her cow, "She has an 'automatic' takeoff, when she wants if off, she takes it off!" The cow had pneumonia as a calf, which stunted her growht, according to the vet. Though she's small in size, her conformation is real correct, says this 4-H dairy judging team member.

Cows used to be fed in the parlor, but they got in the habit of pushing each other around, and not wanting to exit, so that practice was discontinued. Now they line up at a trough running the better part of the barnyard. A stationary mixer at the base of the 20x60 concrete stave silo mixes the TMR, then it is paddled out into the trough.

HOMESTEAD NOTES

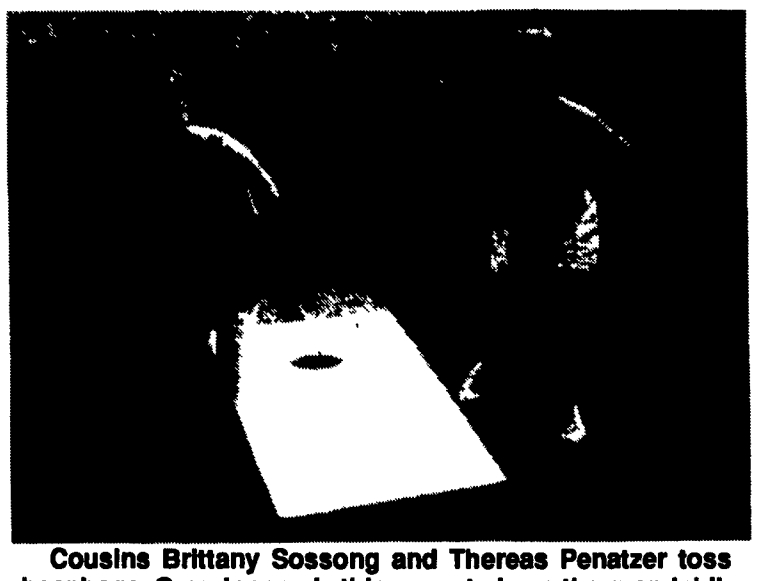
Brennan Sossong immediately said "everything." Brittany Sossong likes "celebrating grandma's birthday with her." Jean immediately replied that this is what makes her birthday "extra-special" — having family with her. Rosalie Sossong likes to play games with the older kids and she loves grandma's hot chocolate which is served for breakfast. Nora Standley likes grandma's pancakes and just "being with grandma." All in all the "camp" gets a "seal of approval" from all of the grandchildren who come.

Both Ken and Jean feel that their "camp is important to them and their family. It provides a sort of "mini-vacation" for the parents of all the grandchildren. Having all of the grandchildren come at one time enables the kids to get to know one another better — they all interact, teen-agers with the toddlers, and the boys with the girls. The next big family get-together which involves everyone will probably be Christmas — Jean notes that the kids just pick up with each other where they left off in August.

One affect that the "camp" has had on Jean is a realization and appreciation for parents with large families. "The work involved with having many children must be tremendous."

In our fast-paced world, the "Long" grandchildren know that they are lucky to have two grandparents who are willing to take the time out of their schedules and share it with them. The grandparents' sense of family commitment and patience is quite evident. The grandchildren are having special memories created for them which they are not soon likely to forget!

Twins Andrew and Alex Soosong, Renald Soosoon, and Owen Standley in the tent where they slept for the few days they attended camp.



Cousins Brittany Sossong and Thereas Penatzer toss beanbags. Grandpa made this game to keep the grandchildren busy.

Meals To Tote

Looking for a dish to take to a covered dish supper? Here are some of our readers' favorites.

ESCALLOPED CORN

¼ cup butter
2 eggs
2 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
16-ounces canned cream-style corn
1 cup milk
Salt and pepper
Paprika

Set oven to 350 degrees. Place butter in a one-quart glass baking dish and place in preheated oven to melt. In the meantime, prepare the corn batter. In a medium bowl, beat the eggs. Add sugar and flour and blend. Add the corn and milk; combine thoroughly. Pour over melted butter but do not mix in. Sprinkle with salt, pepper, and paprika. Bake for 45 minutes, the pudding will be slightly brown and puffy.

MACARONI SALAD

3 cups cooked macaroni
2 hard-boiled eggs, chopped
1 cup chopped celery
¾ cup shredded carrots
1 small onion, chopped
Dressing:
1 cup sugar
¼ cup vinegar
½ teaspoon mustard
½ teaspoon butter
2 beaten eggs

Boil slightly until thickened. When cool, add 2½ cups mayonaise. Mix together and chill.

This is really good. About every time I serve it someone wants the recipe.

POTLUCK CASSEROLE

8 ounces noodles, cooked
1½ pounds lean ground beef
1 onion, chopped
1 teaspoon salt
Pepper to taste
2 8-ounces packages cream cheese
1 cup cottage cheese
¼ cup sour cream
⅓ cup chopped green pepper
⅓ cup chopped green onion

Simmer ground beef, onion, salt, pepper, and tomato sauce. In blender, cream the cottage cheese, cream cheese, and sour cream. Add chopped peppers and green onions. Layer noodles, meat, and cheese sauce. Top with grated cheese and bake at 350 degrees for 35-40 minutes.

CALICO BROCCOLI SLAW

¼ cup apple juice
1 tablespoon olive oil
1 clove garlic, minced
1 teaspoon sugar
½ teaspoon seasoned salt
2 cups thinly sliced red or green cabbage
2 cups shredded broccoli stems
2 medium carrots, shredded

In large bowl, combine vinegar, apple juice, oil, garlic, sugar, and salt. Add cabbage, broccoli, and carrots. Toss well to blend ingredients.

HALUPPI STUFFED CABBAGE

4-5 pounds loose-leafed cabbage
1½ pounds ground beef or fresh sausage
1½ cups cooked rice
1 onion, chopped
1 can tomato paste or sauce
1 can tomato soup
1 can tomatoes

Core and scald cabbage in large pot for 5 minutes. Outer leaves may be cut off and removed. Brown ground beef and onions. Add rice and tomato paste or sauce. Trim leaf ribs. Fill leaves with mixture and fold rib end over meat then left or right and fold over. Cook in slow roaster, crockpot or in oven slowly for 1-2 hours with tomato soup and tomatoes.

Place a small plate on top of halupki to keep from opening up. Freezes well cooked or uncooked.

This recipe may be made as a casserole, a layer of cabbage, then meat mixture, then cabbage. If this method is used, no need to steam the cabbage. Just chop it up and add to tomatoes.

1 cup crushed pineapple, drained
1 cup orange slices
½ cup diced celery
1 cup lowfat or nonfat mayonnaise
¼ cup lowfat or nonfat sour cream
2 tablespoons fruit juice
2 tablespoons vinegar
Dash salt
1 teaspoon sugar

Mix well and refrigerate for several hours.

Italian Chicken and Rice is a great tasting dish to make in a hurry and take to a pot-luck dinner.

ITALIAN CHICKEN AND RICE

½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons butter
4 boned and skinned chicken breast halves
½ cup chopped onion
1 can (14½-ounces) Italian stewed tomatoes
1 can (13¾-ounces) ready-to-serve chicken broth
1 cup long-grain white rice (uncooked)
¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese
½ teaspoon Italian seasoning
¼ teaspoon garlic powder
4 ounces mozzarella cheese, cut in ¼-inch slices

Season chicken breasts with salt. In a large skillet over medium heat melt butter. Add chicken and cook until brown, about 2 minutes on each side; remove from skillet. To skillet add onion; cook over medium heat, stirring occasionally, until tender, about 5 minutes. Add tomatoes, chicken broth, rice, ½ cup water, the Parmesan cheese, Italian seasoning, and garlic powder; bring to a boil; reduce heat and simmer for 5 minutes. Return reserved chicken to skillet; simmer covered, until rice is tender, about 15 minutes; remove from heat. Top chicken with mozzarella cheese; cover until cheese melts, about one minute. Yield: 4 servings.

CHICKEN EDDIE

8 ounces spaghetti, cooked
3 cups chicken cubed
¼ cup green pepper, optional
1 cup broth
¼ teaspoon celery salt and pepper
¾ pound cheese
2 cans cream of mushroom soup

Mix and put in crockpot for 2 hours on low or 1½ hours on high.

BAKED BEANS

½ pound bacon, chopped, precooked
2 large cans great northern beans or lima beans
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup molasses
2 cups catsup
1 small onion, chopped

Bake at 375 degrees for 2-3 hours uncovered or until thickened. Stir twice while cooking.

Here's help for people who have "no time to cook," but still want to put tasty homemade meals on the table. The recipe leaflet Speed-Scratch Cooking with Cheese is a collection of fast and easy recipes by TV's Mr. Food®, star of the nationally syndicated television show. Recipes include Ravioli Lasagna, Crunchy Vegetable Stir-Fry Pizza and Fancy Fast Chicken. For a free copy of this recipe leaflet, send a self-addressed, stamped, business-size envelope to America's Dairy Farmers, SPEED-SCRATCH COOKING, c/o ADADC MID EAST, 5392 Corporate Drive, Suite 114, Columbus, OH 43231-4978.

Here is a recipe from the leaflet.

RAVIOLI LASAGNA

You've got an easy shortcut to an all-time favorite (and they'll love it when you tell them how you did it.)

1 jar (16 ounces) spaghetti sauce, divided
1 bag (16 ounces) frozen mini ravioli
1 package (8 ounces) shredded mozzarella cheese (2 cups)
1 package (10 ounces) frozen chopped spinach, thawed and squeezed dry
¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese, divided

Preheat oven to 350°F. In an 8-inch square baking pan place 1 cup spaghetti sauce; top with half the frozen ravioli, half the mozzarella cheese, half the spinach and 2 tablespoons Parmesan cheese. Repeat layering. Bake uncovered, until ravioli are hot and cheese is golden, 35 to 40 minutes. Let stand 15 minutes before serving. YIELD: 4 servings.

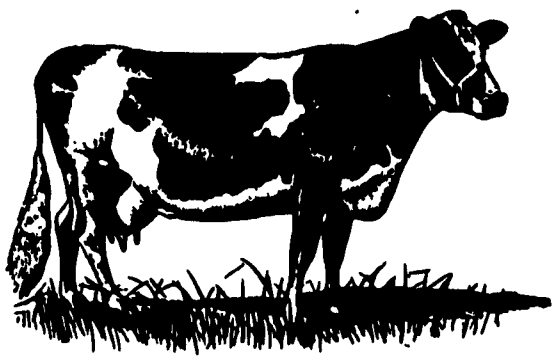
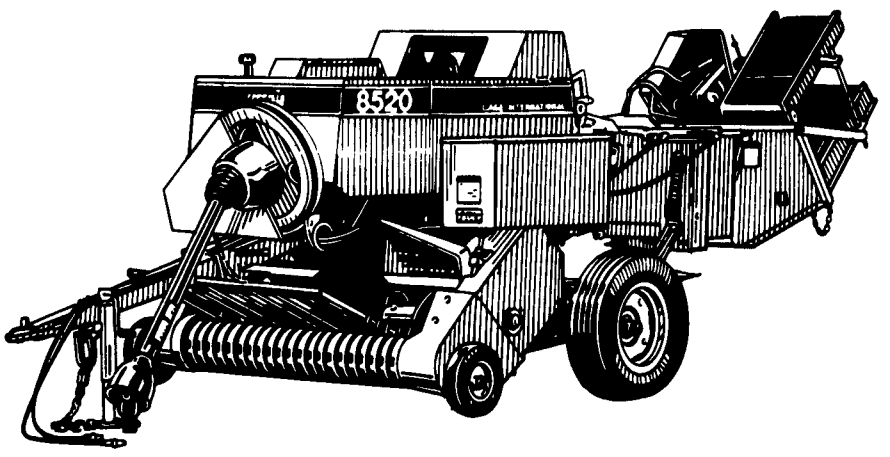
"Her" Choice





If Holsteins could talk, the conversation around the hay manger would be "Case IH Center Line Balers".

Why? More leaves per bale.

Our low profile pickup allows alfalfa hay to retain more dry leaves. We don't lift the windrow as high, saving leaves at the pickup. We also start to compress the hay before it enters the chamber to lock in leaves throughout the flake...leaves don't settle to the bottom and fall out the back of the baler to the degree of older style square balers.

More leaves means more milk, without increased overhead. Many studies show increased production of $1,000 per year over a milking herd of 100 with 2% leaf savings!

Case IH Center Line Balers...one of the quickest ways to increase milk production without adding cows. Improve your bottom line with improved leaf savings.

Cook's • Question • Corner

If you are looking for a recipe but can't find it, send your recipe request to Lou Ann Good, Cook's Question Corner, in care of Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. There's no need to send a SASE. If we receive an answer to your question, we will publish it as soon as possible.

Answers to recipe requests should be sent to the same address.

QUESTION — A reader would like a recipe for crumbs to put on top of pies.

QUESTION — Louise Graybeal, Renick, W.V., would like a recipe for chow chow made with cabbage, green and red sweet peppers, onions, and green tomatoes. Apple cider, sugar, spices and water are also used. This is a Swiss recipe from the late 1800s. She writes it is very good. She wants exact measurements and the kinds of spices used.

QUESTION — A Reinholds reader would like recipes using tomatoes to make spaghetti sauces to freeze.

QUESTION — Jean Mitchell, Lewisburg, would like a recipe for whole wheat bread like that sold at Green Ridge Country Market in Mifflinburg. Her daughter-in-law lives in California and loves that bread. She'd like to know how to make it.

QUESTION — Dotty Gainer, Holtwood, would like a recipe for cookies that were made years ago by the former Federal Bake Shop in Lancaster. She writes that the cookies were shaped like stars and other designs and melted in your mouth. She thinks a cookie press was used to make the shapes.

QUESTION — Louise Graybeal, Renick, W.V., would like to know where she can purchase flaked hominy. She had requested this some months ago. Someone sent an answer but when Louise checked it out the Merchant's Grocery Co. Inc. wrote that they stopped selling it 25 years ago.

QUESTION — Louise Graybeal, Renick, W.V., would like a recipe for breakfast bars similar to toaster streusel, pop tarts, Snackwell's cereal bars, and Snackwell's Devil's Food Cookies.

QUESTION — Richard Haller, Mechanicsburg, would like an old Dutch recipe for "Clapboard" or "Claboard" pie. His mother used to make it. If she were living, she would be 107 years old.

QUESTION — Julie Garber Smith, Millersville, would like recipes to use in a cast-iron cookie mold.

QUESTION — Katherine McCleary, Stewartstown, would like a good recipe for tomato paste.

QUESTION — A Paradise farm wife lover of B-section would like to know how to make bagel sandwiches like those sold in restaurants.

QUESTION — Linda Fields, New Oxford, would like a recipe to preserve eggplant so that it can be enjoyed all year. She also would like a book on home canning. Editor's Note: An excellent up-to-date home canning book is available from the Penn State Extension. Contact your local extension office to purchase a copy. The extension also has many free handouts on home canning directions.

QUESTION — Arlene Snyder, Manheim, would like a recipe using banana creme flavoring.

QUESTION — Judy P. Looney, New Castle, is looking for a cake recipe with a hot milk dressing served over it. It was one of her favorite foods made by her grandmother.

QUESTION — B.W. Pue, Rocky Ridge, Md., would like directions for making realistic gingerbread people that are used in crafts. Some are puffy and others are thick and flat. How is the dough made and colored and the features painted?

QUESTION — B.W. Pue, Rocky Ridge, Md., would like the recipe and directions for Slow-Ball Dip that appeared in Woman's Day on July 5, 1983, page 98. She recalls that it contained 3 cans chopped clams and cream cheese. It is baked in a round loaf of bread that has been scooped out.

QUESTION — Sarah Clark, Breezewood, would like a candy called Decadent, which she thinks is made in North or South Carolina. She'd also like a bread recipe called Arkansas Travelers Bread, and a cherry pie made with red Kool-Aid.

QUESTION — A Chambersburg lover of Section B would like details on using a smoker. Do you burn charcoal or wood? How do you keep the fire hot while adding wood? How do you keep ashes off the meat? How can you tell if it's hot enough?

QUESTION — Nancy Price, Jarrettsville, would like a recipe for fruit sauce such as they serve with ham at Horn and Horn Restaurant. She has tried other recipes but none is as good as Horn and Horn's.

QUESTION — Dick Taylor, Allentown, N.J., would like a recipe for hot pepper sauce using lime juice and carrots as opposed to the traditional method of using vinegar and tomatoes. He writes that lime juice enhances the pepper flavor more than vinegar.

QUESTION — Dee Crowder, Gettysburg, is looking for a recipe similar to Rotel or Chi-Chi's Tomato and Green Chilies.

QUESTION — Gina Hawbaker would like to know how to make a salad dressing similar to the house dressing at Atrim House Restaurant in Greencastle.

QUESTION — Sue Werner, Lebanon, would like a recipe for alfalfa jelly. She writes that her family tasted it at the Farm Show. Although she felt like she was eating grass, her son loved it.

QUESTION — Frank T. Cat of Millerstown, would like a recipe for English toffee cookies like those sold by Weis Markets. The cookies are great tasting and don't crumble for children.

ANSWER — Esther Martin, Shippensburg, wanted a recipe for angel biscuits. Thanks to Pamela Keefer, Spring Grove; Lorene Nolt, Myerstown, and to Ada Martin, Shippensburg, for sending recipes.

Angel Biscuits

2 packages (¼ ounce each) active dry yeast
¼ cup warm water
2 cups warm buttermilk
5 cups all-purpose flour
⅓ cup sugar
1 tablespoon baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 tablespoon salt
1 cup shortening
Melted butter

Dissolve yeast in warm water. Let stand 5 minutes. Stir in buttermilk. Set aside. In a large mixing bowl, combine dry ingredients. Cut in shortening with pastry blender until mixture resembles course meal. Stir in yeast/buttermilk mixture, mix well. Turn out onto a lightly floured surface. Knead lightly 3 to 4 times. Roll to a ½ -inch thickness. Cut with a 2½ -inch biscuit cutter. Place on a lightly greased baking sheet. Cover and let rise in a warm place about 1½ hours. Bake at 450 degrees for 8-10 minutes. Lightly brush tops with melted butter. Yield: about 2½ dozen.

QUESTION — Georgia Harding, Smithsburg, Md., used to vacation regularly in Ocean City, N.J., in the early 1980s. Several bakeries in that area sold a delicious breakfast cake, called Butter Cake, which was very moist and had a buttery layer on the top. She thinks the cake is absolutely out of this world, and wanted the recipe. Thanks to Carolyn Hodgson, Clarks Summit, for sending a recipe.

Philadelphia German Butter Cake

¼ cup shortening
¼ teaspoon salt
1 large egg
1 envelope dry yeast
½ cup warm milk
2½ cups all-purpose flour
1 tablespoon vanilla

Cream together sugar, shortening, and salt. Add egg, beat one minute until well blended. Dissolve yeast in warm milk. Add flour to shortening and sugar, then add yeast mixture and vanilla. Mix for 3 minutes with dough hook or by hand. Flour board and knead for one minute. Put into well greased bowl, cover with clean towel and set in a warm place for one hour or until double in size. Meanwhile, prepare the topping.

Topping:

2 sticks unsalted butter
⅔ cup flour
2 cups extra-fine sugar
2 extra large eggs
4-5 tablespoons milk

Cream butter. Sift flour and sugar. Beat into creamed butter. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each egg. By teaspoonful, add milk to bring mixture to consistency for easy spreading. Be careful not to make it too runny.

Roll or pat dough into well greased 9x13x2-inch pan. Crimp edges halfway up sides of pan to hold topping in. Prick dough with a fork to prevent bubbling. Spread topping over dough. Let stand for 30 minutes. Bake for 30 minutes at 375 degrees until done. Do not overbake. Top should be crusty not gooey. Let cool.

LEMON DESSERT

Bottom part:
½ cup butter
1 cup flour
½ cup nuts, chopped

Mix and bake until brown at 350 degrees. Cool.

Center part:
1 cup confectioners' sugar
1 cup frozen whipped topping
8-ounces cream cheese

Mix together and put on crust.

Top part:
2 3¾ -ounces boxes pudding (any flavor)

Cook pudding with milk or use instant pudding. Spread over cream cheese layer. Top with whipped topping.

Variation: put chopped nuts, grated chocolate or cookie crumbs on top.

May be made the day ahead.

I'm 13 years old. I have 3 brothers and 4 sisters. One of my sisters is married and has 2 girls and a boy. They are all very cute. We have 9 guinea pigs, 3 kittens, and 1 goat. We have hens and chickens too. We sell sweet corn, homemade root beer, and pies. Sometimes we sell whoopie pies too. We don't live on a farm. My dad and brothers do concrete work.

JUST A CASSEROLE

Saute until clear in a little oil:
1 large onion, chopped
1 cup celery, diced
1 pound lean ground beef

Brown beef until it loses its pinkness. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Heat in another saucepan:
1 can mushroom soup
1 soup can water
¼ cup chopped green olives
½ cup cheese whiz

When soup and cheese are blended, add:
1 can French-style green beans, drained
1 small jar pimentos, drained

When mixture is just heated, spray casserole dish with vegetable spray. Add 1 cup cooked noodles to casserole. Mix in ground beef and remaining mixture. Season with seasoned salt. Mix all together. Top with parmesan cheese and paprika. Bake at 350 degrees for 30-35 minutes.

GONE ALL DAY STEW

1 can tomato soup
½ cup water
½ cup red cooking wine
¼ cup flour
2 pounds beef, cubed
3 medium carrots, sliced
6 small cooking onions
4 medium potatoes, chopped
½ cup celery chopped
1 cup fresh mushrooms, sliced
2 beef bouillon cubes
1 tablespoon Good Seasoning Italian Herb Mix
1 bay leaf
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Mix together soup, wine, and flour until smooth. Brown beef in a little butter. Add remaining ingredients to a large heavy casserole. Add soup mixture. Stir. Bake at 275 degrees for 5 hours in oven or in crockpot. During the last 30 minutes, stir in 1 package instant brown gravy and ½ cup water. Good served over hot buttered noodles.

Life is full of unanswered questions.

Why must there be war? How can we bring the peoples of the world closer together in understanding? Why do good, kind people die painful, disease-ridden deaths while murderers and rapists healthily thrive in prison, spending their days challenging our legal system — at our expense?

Or even the more mundane unanswerables: Will we ever control government deficit spending? Why did God create flies? And, is there some way we can go through life without ever having to drive the Route 30 by-pass around York or Lancaster?

Adults stressfully and unsuccessfully debate, study, fund grants and appoint committees — and still come up answer-less. But, sometimes, the hardest questions to answer are the ones we know the answers to.

"Granddad," queried the small grandson of a good friend and fellow dairy farmer. "What are bulls for?" Granddad, at the wheel of his farm pickup, tactfully tried to ignore the issue.

"Granddad," repeated the little fellow, turning in his seat to put his face right near his grandfather's where he couldn't be missed, "What are bulls for?"

Looking back over the past two decades, I can't remember that particular question ever coming from our two kids. At some point, it must have surely been in their inds.

But a distinct advantage of farm living is that kids learn about life, death, birth — and yes, reproduction — without having a big deal made about any of them. Adults who visited with us, not having grown up on farms, often asked questions in their innocence that kids secretly rolled their eyes at in absolute disbelief.

The kids couldn't conceive the someone would actually believe that bulls have horns and cows don't. Numerous times we've explained that our cattle were all born in the potential for horns, but that we remove the horn buds with a dehorning paste — similar to an across-the-counter wart remover product — when the calves are just babies.

One of the more memorable issues we've had to explain to a big-city visitor was our use of eartags. He rather heatedly questioned why we put eartags in the ears of baby calves. Didn't it hurt them, he accused. Trying not to giggle, I explained that it hurt them no more than getting the gold earring he wore pierced through one of his ears.

And, until they think about it, many folks don't realize that a dairy cow must have a calf before she begins to produce milk. Or that calving must be a repeat process at regular intervals if a cow is to continue giving milk.

Having tagged along at The Farmer's rubber-boot-shod heels since they could walk, our kids understood about artificial insemination almost before they knew their ABCs. Thus, a bull was no great mystery, just a different approach. Our bull discussions, instead, focused on how important it was for kids to STAY AWAY from them.

Guess we got off pretty lucky in the facts-of-life question department.

Our friend, whose grandson is very intelligent and verbal for his young age, knew he had to answer this earnest question to this youngster's satisfaction. It might have been tempting to suggest he ask Grandmother. Instead, he took a deep breath and rose to the sticky occasion.

"Bulls," he replied, "eventually are used to make hamburger." Satisfied at that point, his grandson launched into a series of questions about how hamburger is made, causing our friend deep relief at having detoured around a rather touchy subject for a five-year-old.

If you have small kids in your life, file that answer away for future reference.

FLAIL SHREDDERS 12 Ft. And 15 Ft.

FLAIL SHREDDERS Heaviest gearbox on the market eliminates the number one cause of downtime. Available in 12' and 15'. Either cup or side slicer knives. 540 or 1000 RPM.

New SOIL COMMANDERS New

The New Brillion Soil Commanders take Residue Management to the next generation of soil conservation efficiency.

The Soil Commanders are a versatile tillage tool designed to meet the needs of the mid-size farmer who uses a 150-200 H.P. tractor. One of the keys to the machine's versatility is that it uses interchangeable shank legs and individually mounted disk assemblies instead of a disk gang. This makes possible a machine with disk assemblies on the front and rear of the frame with chisel plow or deep-ripper shanks on 15", 24", 27" or 30" spacings.

Kids Korner

Never Too Young For Fun At Ag Progress

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

ROCK SPRING (Centre Co.) — Thousands of children headed to Ag Progress with their parents this year. It's an annual event that many children look forward to because the place holds many fascinating events especially for kids. But, even if it didn't, many children reported they would be perfectly content climbing over the new tractors and equipment.

Four-year-old David Florry and his 2-year-old brother Christopher were excited about the balloons they received in the Farm Burea building.

In the dairy tent, children were also delighted to find dairy princesses handing out balloons. William Hostettler, 7; Loren Kauffman, 5; Chad Hostetter, 4, and Lynita Kauffman, 3, collected balloons, stickers, and pencils. The Kauffmans are the children of Tim and Ruth Kauffman, and the Hostetters are the children of Sam and Carol Hostettler of Reedsville.

Dwayne Brubaker proved he didn't need toys designed for children to find fun. The 21-month-old was perfectly delighted to climb the Porta Huts. His mother from Wolmesdorf said the huts designed to keep animals penned now had a new use — a place to pen in children.

Ag Progress Days

Two-year-old Emily Knepper likes to stack blocks in the tent just for kids. She and her mother Jenny accompany her dad Mark who is an exhibitor from Somerset County.

David Corle and son Ethan, of Julian, inspect a live honey bee colony, while a Penn State Extension worker explains the social and behavioral order and workings of honey bees.

Dwayne Brubaker climbs in a Porta Hut while his parents examine new equipment available for farmers.

William Hostettler, 7; Loren Kauffman, 5; Chad Hostetter, 4, and Lynita Kauffman, 3, show off their balloons.

Public water fountains and faucets at the Russell E. Larson Research Center help cool off these two at Ag Progress Days. Many people cooled off in a similiar, if less playful manner.

FRESH HERBS FROM THE GARDEN

This is the third in a series of articles on growing and preserving herbs in the home garden.

Nothing can match the taste and aroma of fresh-picked herbs. In a modern-day "kitchen" garden, culinary herbs are also grown for their taste and/or reputed medicinal value.

What are the most popular herbs being grown today? According to Kathy Sabastian, executive director of the International Herb Association, chives, basil, rosemary, lemon verbena, sage, oregano, sweet marjoram, parsley, french tarragon, and thyme make up today's top 10 herbs.

Kathy noted that there is a big increase in herb purchases and interest in the '90s. "It's back to the basics, back to natural, and back to gardening," she said. "And if you are only familiar with herbs from a can or jar, it's time to discover what fresh is like. Fresh herbs are tastier because they haven't been processed or dried. so there is no lost flavor."

Using fresh, harvest the leaves when the plants are mature. Harvest leaves before the plants flower. If buds are seen, pinch them back so that the plant continues to produce foliage instead of flowers. Once the plant has flowered, it will be past its peak. However, if it is the seeds that are wanted, such as dill seed that comes from the flower, you should wait until the flower has matured.

Harvest in late morning, after any dew has dried out before the hot afternoon sun has dried any of the oils in the leaves. Thoroughly wash and dry the leaves before chopping them for use in recipes.

Chopping releases the flavorful oils in the leaves. Fresh herbs have a lot more flavor than dried herbs, so less is needed in a recipe that calls for dried herbs. A general rule of thumb is to use one-half the amount of a fresh herb (i.e., if a recipe calls for 1 teaspoon of sage, use only ½ teaspoon of fresh sage leaves.

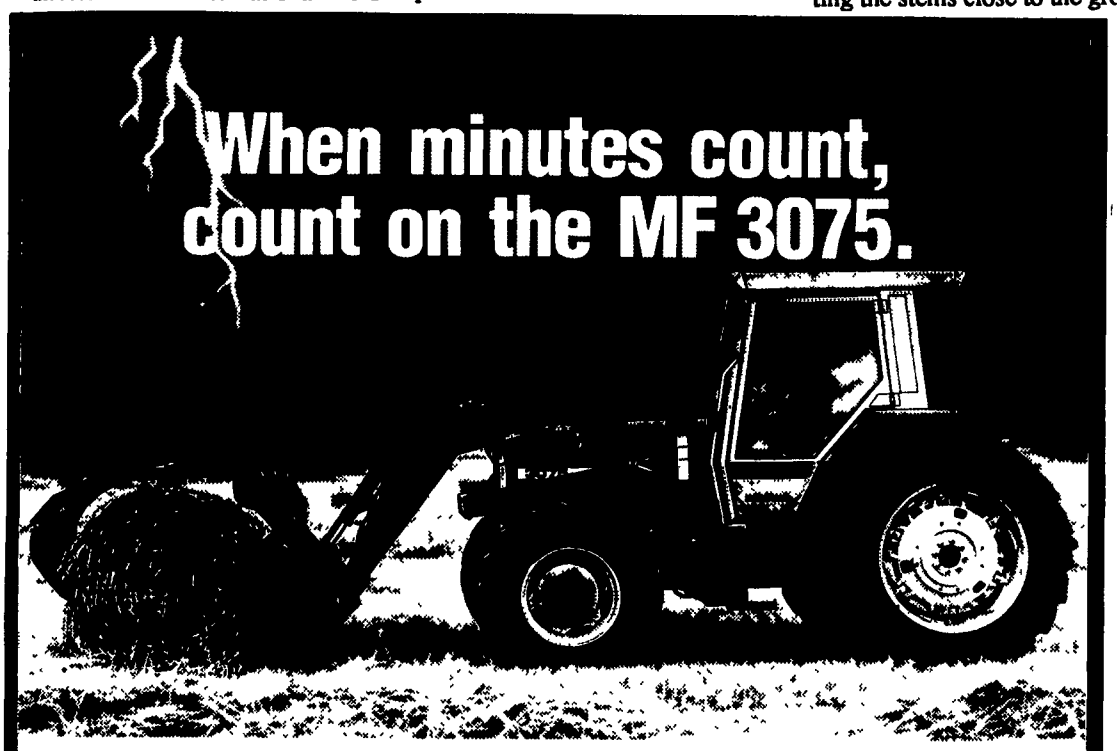
Herbs can be preserved in several ways. Dry your herbs by cutting the stems close to the ground, loosely tying in bundles, and hanging upside down. Place in a warm, dry place that is out of bright light. Some people prefer covering the bundles with a paper bag before hanging them. The paper bag helps absorb moisture without absorbing the natural oils, and the bag also keeps dust off the stems.

Plants are properly dried when a leaf will crumble in your hand. This may take two to three weeks. When dried, the leaves can be crumbled (remove any stems that may get crumbled in with the leaves) and then store in containers for later use. Colored jars or tins with tight-fitting lids are preferred to retard loss of oils due to exposure to heat and light.

Many herbs such as parsley and chives can be simply chopped and placed in plastic bags and then put in the freezer. Be sure to label the bags — many chopped green herbs look alike in the freezer.

Herb cubes can be made by blending them with water and then placing them in ice cube trays for freezing. After cleaning the harvested leaves, place them in a blender or food processor with water (about 1½ cups of water to 2 cups of leaves) and chop them finely. Pour the results in ice cube trays and freeze. Once frozen the cubes can be placed in plastic bags in the freezer. Simply thaw a cube or two for almost fresh herb taste when cooking. Again, be sure to lable the bags.

Herbs are also dried in a microwave oven. Many books on herbs include these instructions.



Don't get me wrong.
We sure need the rain.
But I've got to get these bales in first. In 20 minutes this field will be a lake.
Thanks to this new Massey Ferguson 3075, I just might make it.

The MF 3075's unique 86 hp Quadram-combustion Perkins engine delivers more torque on less fuel than any conventional diesel engine. Plus it's smoother and quieter.

Wow! Listen to that thunder. It's getting close.

MF's exclusive Dynashift transmission combines the economy of a manual shuttle shift with the convenience of a 4-speed powershift.

Shuttle to reverse. Powershift down. Shuttle forward. Powershift up.
I'd never make it with any other transmission.

Economy PTO. Electronic Linkage Control. Autotronics. Strong parts and service support. High resale value. See it all today only at your Massey Ferguson dealer.

Made it! That's the last one.

Lancaster 4-H Fair Showcases Talents, Skills, Perseverance

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

LAMPETER (Lancaster Co.) — Fair time arrived in Lancaster County last week with the advent of the 4-H Fair. The three-day event held at the West Lampeter Fairgrounds was a showcase of the talents and hardwork of hundreds of county 4-H'ers.

Parents, friends, neighbors, and even an entourage from Poland showed up to admire the completed projects displayed and to see students compete in shows from cooking to sheep.

Intertwined with serious showing were pygmy goats playing musical tires, a scarecrow competition, and even a sleepover for members.

Lisa Reiff maintained her reputation by again showing the champion market lamb and being named champion showman. The 17-year-old from Strasburg, named the champion market lamb Louisville for good luck. It was the second or third year Lisa showed the champion at the 4-H Roundup and the third or fourth year she earned the top showmanship award. Later in the day, the sheep was sold for $5.75.

Jason Stoltzfus gave solid competition with his home breed Suffolk, which was named reserve champion. The 18-year-old said that this is his next-to-last show after many years of showing as he heads off for college this month. His 117-pound reserve sold for $3 a pound to Willie the Butcher.

Chris Herr, who judged the event, said that the top eight sheep in their respective classes would be comfortable in any show. "They have musceling with style and would be on the top end of rail competition," he said.

Herr donated his earnings as judge back to the county 4-H judging team, which won state competition and will head to Louisville for national competition in December.

In showmanship, Travis Donough took the reserve champion placing. He showed the champion at the hog show the day before.

Lisa Reiff's grand champion 119-pound market lamb sells for $5.75 a pound to R&R Landscaping, Pheasant Ridge Park, and Hurst Tire Service. Representing the three companies is Lisa's dad Lloyd.

Willie the Butcher pays $3 a pound for Jason Stoltzfus's 117-pound reserve champion market lamb.

Poland 4-H exchange students attend the 4-H Fair with host families. The students stayed in the homes of local 4-H'ers during their four-week visit. Their observations of Americans ranged from, "Americans are too lazy because they have so many drive thrus," to "People here like to move (exercise)." Dagmara Dudzik summed up the group's overall feeling by saying, "We love our American people." Back row at left is Connie Rutt who coordinated the visit and went to Poland three times as a 4-H instructor; Kim McLaughlin (a local 4-H'er), fourth from left, Eric Wenger (a local 4-H'er) sixth from left, are with guests Agnieszka Owsiana, Telimena Lester, and Stawomira Laszczak, Andrzej Apolinarski, Aga Sowula, Dagmara Dudzik, Szyman Koronowski, and Wojciech MacKowiak.

champion title at the 4-H Fair. She and her brother Peter have been showing since they were seven years old.

After sheep showing competition, a leadline event was held. The purpose is to present sheep attractively and the wool produced. Participants needed to use their own 4-H lamb for the event and dress in wool outfits.

Showmanship

Class 1: 1. Lisa Reiff, 2. Travis Donough, 3. Regina Landis. Class 2: 1. Jessica Stoltzfus, 2. Jessica Schmidt, 3. Jill Hoffines. Class 3: 1. Derick Bollinger, 2. Radell Peters, 3. Brandon Ziegler. Class 4: 1. Holly Hoover, 2. John Tracy, 3. Corby Ziegler. Class 5 (Novice): 1. Hope Long, 2. Kirsten Kauffman, 3. Joy Young. Class 6 (Novice): 1. Katye Allen, 2. Joshua Hoover, 3. Alexandra Lauffer. Novice Champion: Katye Allen; Champion Showman: Lisa Reiff; Reserve Showman: Travis Donough.

Six-year-old Aaron McCoy from E-town is happy for the blue ribbon on his first-year project, a puppet.

Showmanship champions are Lisa Reiff and Travis Donough. Chris Herr, judge for the event, said the two have obviously been around the show ring for many years.

An Archery "Mini-Camp" was staged recently by Warren County 4-H. According to 4-H Leader Sam Marek Jr., who instructed the camp, "the three day camp was an intensive skills building session for beginning archers, and it was also a great opportunity for the kids involved." Marek was assisted by Sanford Smith, Warren County Exension Agent. The participants were from left top row, Sam Marek Jr., Rusty McAulay, Trever Wilkins, Matt Wilkins, Luke Smith, John Chambers, and Christopher Chambers. Bottom row, kneeling from left, James Wiles, Trevor Smith, Dustin Huss, Rob Kish, Kyle McClean, and Robby Peterson.

Ida's Notebook

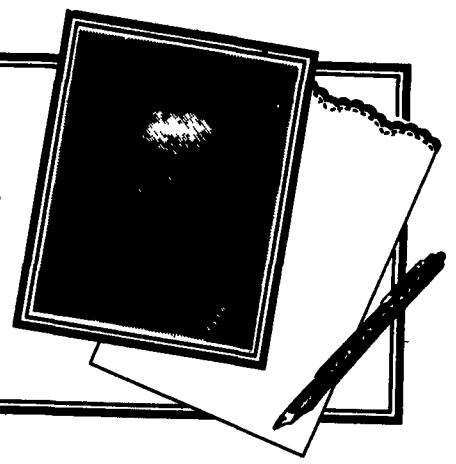
Ida Risser



This morning I dialed the weatherline to see whether I had to work in the garden now or if I could wait until afternoon. There in a row were three appliances that needed electricity to work. One was a lamp, another was a radio and the third, an alarm clock. We depend on electricity for hot water and cold water. Also to run our washer, dryer, stove, refrigerator and dishwasher.

That last item was used a lot the last 10 days as we had three guests from Atlanta, Georgia. Our son and children kept things lively around here. Quite a bit of time was spent on the farm and one grandchild learned to ride a bicycle. We spent some time at a park and later at an ice cream shop. As it was very hot, we kept two fans and two air conditioners going most of the time.

When I was growing up we used hand-held fans and simply suffered through the heat. Our big, black wood-burning stove added to the temperature. We cooked every day to feed nine people and we had no refrigerator. That reminds me that one time we were given meatloaf by a friend and when we ate it, after it sat on a cellar shelf, all of the family got quite sick. Nowadays, we're warned about keeping food cold.

We have about a dozen lamps in our house and even then we can find a dark corner. Long ago, one kerosene lamp in the middle of the table was sufficient light for the whole family to read and do lessons.

Newspapers bring news to homes but now television can bring it much sooner and we depend on getting the news when it happens and not a day later. Sometimes I think that I must be getting lazy to depend on electricity so much. But, one does become accustomed to the convenience of it.

HAPENINGS

Day Camp '95

Recently, Adams County youth ages 8-12 enjoyed a day of sand art, country line dancing, science activities, and many other activities at the 1995 4-H Day Camp held at the South Mountain Fairgrounds near Arendtsville.

Sixty-one 4-H'ers and 17 4-H teen leaders attended Day Camp. The 4-H teens planned, organized, and led all the day's activities with the assistance of extension 4-H staff and volunteer adult leaders.

The theme of this year's Day Camp was "Down on the Farm." When the 4-H'ers first registered in the morning, they were divided into five groups: cows, horses, pigs, chickens, and rabbits. Each group was supervised by two teen leaders, who watched over them throughout the day camp program. These teens took the kids to the five workshops: country line dancing, science experiments, recreation, and crafts. Each workshop was led by two 4-H teens with some assistance from adult leaders. After the workshops, the five groups competed in the evening ceremonies.

In the middle of the day, everyone participated in a group scavenger hunt to find a number of items like a soda can tab, belt, acorns, and a first year 4-H member, to name just a few of the items on the list. After dinner, 4-H'ers showed their allegiance to their group at the evening program, 'Farmer's Festival." Each group presented mascots, a skit, a commerical, a banner, and a gift. The "Great Farm Kids" judged the different categories and chose a winner. 4-H teen senate officers, Wayne Flickinger and Heidi Miller and Jess Dayhoff, dressed as farm kids and served as "The Great Farm Kids."

Teen group leaders at Day Camp were Zeb Eckert, Jenna Dayhoff, Ryan Zepp, Viki O'Shea, Laura Cunningham, Heather Stevens, Jason Keller, Jeanne Green, Daryll Gebhart, Rich Rudolph, and Amber Day. Teen leaders in charge of workshops were Jess Dayhoff, Heidi Miller, Kristi Cunningham, Beth Green, and Wayne Flickinger. Adams County Dairy Princess Julie Zepp taught the dairy promotion workshop, while Abe Bucher taught the snail workshop. Barb Spice and volunteers—Sandy Keller, Karen Keller, Jane Wilson, Jose Funt, Addie Spicer, Jessica Kerrigan, Kristin Keller, Janel Keller and Gayle Funt from the Heidlersburg 4-H Club, instructed the groups in the crafts workshop. Volunteer leader Sharon Baker, as well as Assistant County Agent Terri Packard and Summer 4-H Program Assistant Dan Ludwig, oversaw the day's activities and prevented chaos from occurring during the day. Linda Carey, EMT, volunteered as the resident nurse for the day's event.

ANSWER — Nancy Cummings, Bolivar, said that for those who wanted different flavors of whoopie pies, they can be made from any moist cookie dough. Add a little more flour to the recipe for fat ones or less flour for flatter ones.

ANSWER — Mark Miller, Sugarcread, Ohio, wanted sausage recipes. Thanks to Sarah Clark, Breezewood, for sending recipes.

Sausage Loaf

1½ cups bread or cracker crumbs
2 tablespoons grated onions
2 tablespoons catsup
2 tablespoons horseradish
2 teaspoons prepared mustard
1 egg, slightly beaten
½ cup milk

Mix together sausage and crumbs. Add onion and mix well. Add catsup, horseradish, mustard, and egg. Mix well again. Moisten the mixture with milk and shape into a loaf. Bake at 350 degrees for one hour.

Smokey Sausage Corn Chowder

½ cup chopped onion
¼ cup butter
¼ cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
4 cups milk
17-ounces whole kernel corn, drained
12-ounces fully-cooked smoked sausage links, sliced
8½ -ounces lima beans, drained

In a saucepan, cook onion in butter until tender but not brown. Blend in flour, salt, and pepper. Add the milk all at once. Cook and stir until thickened and bubbly. Stir in corn, sausage, and beans. Simmer 10 minutes.

Sweet and Sour Pork Sausage Balls

Meat Balls:
1 pound bulk pork sausage
1 slightly beaten egg
½ cup finely chopped bread crumbs
½ teaspoon sage

Sauce:
2 tablespoons brown sugar
1 tablespoon cider vinegar
1 tablespoon soy sauce

Mix sausage, egg, bread crumbs, and sage. Shape into about 2 dozen 1½ -inch balls. In ungreased skillet, brown balls slowly on all sides, about 15 minutes. Pour off excess fat. Combine ingredients for sauce. Pour over meat. Cover and simmer 30 minutes, stirring occasionally to coat meatballs. Can be served as an appetizer if meat balls are much smaller.

Or serve as a main dish over hot rice.

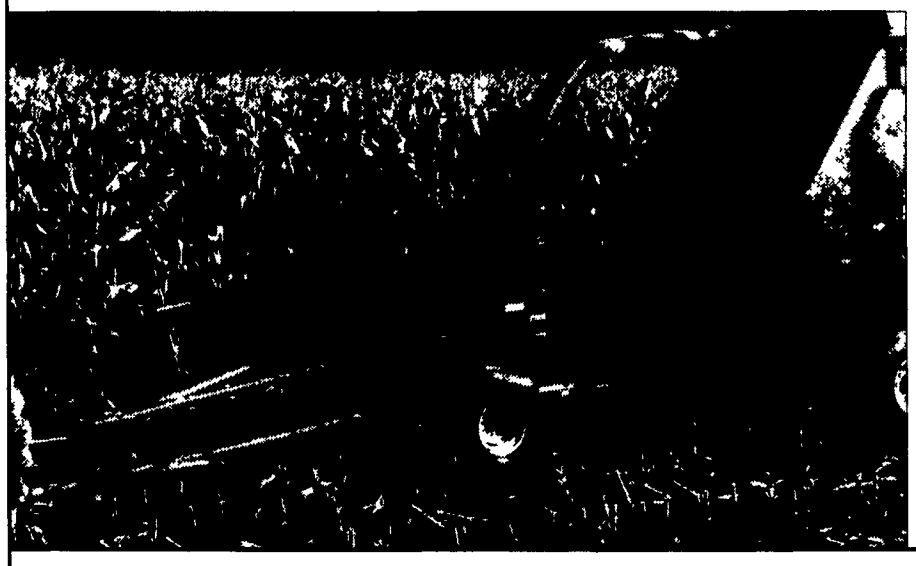
JOHN DEERE

HIGH-QUALITY SILAGE, LOW-COST CUT

A John Deere Powr-Mizer™ Forage Harvester puts first-class forage in the bunk... and saves you cash along the way.

Top-quality silage is your goal. And the Powr-Mizer Harvester's controlled feeding helps deliver it. The radial-arc feedroll holds the crop mat tight while pivoting along the cutterhead radius. Even big clumps of stalks are metered accurately, for a consistent length of cut. The result is uniform, first-class forage for your cattle.



Save input costs without sacrificing quality. This harvester goes all-out to give you a quality cut – yet a choice of fan speeds saves horsepower at the same time. In corn, go with the power- and fuel-saving 722-rpm setting. In thick, heavy crops like hay, switch to 1,000 rpm.

CUT QUALITY FORAGE WITH GENUINE JOHN DEERE PARTS

If your forage harvesting equipment isn't up to par, you could be taking a major cut in productivity. Protect your investment and get maximum efficiency with genuine John Deere forage harvester parts. Check out these values.

This gathering belt keeps forage flowing quickly and easily. It's peace-of-mind performance built for the long run.

QUESTION — Marie Lorah, Tamaqua, was sent an address for a source for owl glasses. She sent an SASE but did not receive an answer. Does anyone know where she could purchase some owl glasses?

QUESTION — Laurie Baker, Kutztown, would like a recipe for milk paint, not the whitewash used in the barn but to use on antique furniture and wood trim.

QUESTION — Jeff Connors is looking for a painting of a Lancaster County farm scene with cows, barn, and field work in it. Contact him at P.O. Box 144, Perryville, Md. 21903.

QUESTION — Marcia Richards, Pitman, N.J., collects old valentines called Penny Dreadfuls or Vinegar Valentines. They are one-page caricatures with a mean poem printed beneath the picture. The valentines were mailed unsigned. She would like information someone might have regarding the valentines and also to purchase more.

QUESTION — A Lehighton subscriber writes that she is the person who had requested an address for the company of the Merit Quik Chef Fast Grill. Someone sent an address, but when she wrote to it, her letter was returned. Does someone have an up-to-date address?

QUESTION — Amos Stoltzfus is looking for "Got-A-Minute," a word game by Selchow and Righter. It must be complete and in playable condition. Please do not send the game without contacting him first at R.R.1, Box 106 SR 17, Blain, PA 17006-9714.

QUESTION — Jeff Connors, Perryville, Md., would like to know where a good FFA school is in Lancaster Co. or a good, clean Christian family farm, or a Virginia-style dairy barn.

QUESTION — Jeff Connors, Perryville, Md., would like to know where he can purchase a toy Farmall 560 1958 NFAN 1456.

QUESTION — Joan Francisco, Stroudsburg, would like to know where to purchase oil of cassia, used in Italian cooking.

QUESTION — Yvonne Lawrence, Newburgh, N.Y., would like to know where to purchase a rhubarb and soda mixture used for indigestion. She used to purchase it in a pharmacy but finds the New York pharmacies don't stock it anymore.

QUESTION — Mrs. William Pierce, Palmyra, would like to know where to purchase antique two-bottom dishes for crock-type chicken water fountains. Must be white with 10-inch top and 8-inch bottom.

ANSWER — Coralie Grant, Coopersburg, wanted the name of an outlet for wool remnants suitable for making braided rugs. Thanks to Eunice Hollinger, Denver, who writes that The Woolrich Store, located in Woolrich 3 miles off Rt. 220 between Williamsport and Lock Haven (717) 769-7832, has a lovely selection of wool remnants, which they sell by the pound.

ANSWER — Janice Buhl, Erie, wanted a cross-stitch pattern for antique John Deere tractors. Thanks to Donna Weiss, Newmanstown, and to Nancy Van Cott, New Milford, for sending the same information. Patterns are available from Treasured Tractor Graphics, P.O. Box 56, Grundy Center, IA 50683-0056.

ANSWER — Rose and George Plitt of Painted Post, N.Y., wanted to know how to dry and package mint tea. Thanks to Bonnie Blain, Halifax; Mrs. David Fisher, Lewistown; and Nancy Cummings, Bolivar, for sending the following information.

Wash tea, shake off the water, and spread on a tablecloth or sheet to dry. It may be dried in the sun, but must be brought indoors overnight. Better success is drying it in an attic or warm room upstairs. Oven drying will darken the tea. When it's dry, the leaves will be crisp and can be easily stripped from the stems. Drying time will vary with air temperatures and humidity, but it should be completely dry in 2-3 weeks of summer weather. Tea may be stored for several years but direct sunlight will bleach the leaves from dark green to medium brown, which doesn't look nice. Store tea in jars or plastic containers or plastic bags. Try using 1 tablespoon of dried leaves to one cup boiling water. Use more or less as you like it. Dried mint tea will not produce a beverage with the same color or flavor as fresh tea, but it is still delicious. Some folks prefer to freeze clean leaves instead of drying as it preserves the fresh flavor.

Bonnie said the best method to dry tea is to use a food dehydrator, which only takes a few hours. May also lay the leaves on screens in the sun, but cover with another screen so it doesn't blow away. To make tea, she puts a tablespoon in a tea ball or in a coffee filter tied with a twisty. Seep in a cup of boiling water about 3 minutes. If left in too long, the tea will get bitter. Or put about ½ cup in a filter in a jar of water. Set in sun until done. Tastes great with honey instead of sugar.

ANSWER — Pollyanna Eby, Belleville, wanted the verses to the following poem by George Cooper that she learned as a small girl in school. Thanks to A.M. Rohrer, East Berlin; Barbara Braucher, Leesport; Laura Burkholder, Kutztown; Grace Kauffman, Myerstown; Nora Martin, Newmanstown; Sarah Zook, Lititz; Mrs. Larry Groff, Denver; Dorothy Plank, Leonville; Joyce Kimble, Bedford; Elva Martin, Narvon; Rita Eisensmith, York Haven; Sylvia Martin, Greencastle; Sarah Keeney, York; Anna Zerr, Geigertown; Lynelle Horst, Chambersburg; Doris Brenize, Shippensburg, and many others for sending the poem. Many wrote of memories the poem invoked from memorizing the poem as a student in school.

The Wind And The Leaves

"Come, little leaves," said the wind one day,
"Come o'er the meadow with me and play,
Put on your dresses of red and gold, —
Summer is gone, and the days grow cold."

Soon as the leaves heard the wind's loud call,
Down they came fluttering, one and all,
Over the brown fields they danced and flew
Singing the soft little songs they knew.

"Dear little lambs in your fleecy fold,
Mother will keep you from harm and cold,
Fondly we've watched you in vale and glade,
Say, will you dream of our loving shade?"

Dancing and whirling, the little leaves went,
Winter had called them, and they were content
Soon fast asleep in their earthly beds
The snow laid a coverlet over their heads.

The patented Dura-Drum cutterhead not only saves you money with inexpensive knife replacement, the fully enclosed drum won't fill up with silage – a problem that can rob you of horsepower and waste fuel.

You'll save plenty on maintenance, too. The unique Dura-Drum™ cutterhead features segmented knives instead of full-width knives. When a knife is damaged, you'll pay just $13.42* for a new one, compared to $78.87* for a full-width knife. Plus, segmented knives are easier to replace – simply loosen three bolts, switch knives, and retighten.

You can have top-quality forage without paying top-dollar. Just ask your John Deere dealer about a Powr-Mizer Forage Harvester today.

Comparison based on manufacturer's suggested retail price (as of April 1, 1995) for rotating knives used on a John Deere 3970 and its closest major competitor knives for other competitors were more costly*

Only $211.15 (AE44466)

Depend on quality John Deere cutterhead knives for maximum cutting productivity. These segmented, easy-to-replace knives give you efficient, economical performance. For John Deere 3960 and 3970 Forage Harvesters.
Only $13.42 (E61961)

It's hard to believe, but after missing quite a few rains, we had 8 inches last week and things are looking pretty good. I mean we cancelled the June sale because it was so wet and everyone was still out trying to plant, spray, or bale.

We are setting up our fall sale for August 29th at 9:30 AM CST. As always, everything sells absolute with no reserve or minimum. Also, we offer trucking to anywhere in the USA, Canada, or Mexico. If you have consignments, we have trucking available to pick them up. Call now so we can get them advertised. Remember everything sells absolute without minimum, and being advertised as such, it falls under Illinois Statue 26-2-328.

Lunch will again be provided by First Reformed Church of Wichert Mission Committee and Members, with the proceeds going to two very good local projects: Bible Witness Camp and Unity Christian School. This sale bill was written on August 7, 1995, due to early advertising deadlines.

STATEMENTS MADE BY SALE DAY TAKE PRECEDENCE OVER PRINTED MATTER. ALL SALES FINAL WHEN AWARDED TO HIGHEST BIDDER.

SHIPPENSBURG (Cumberland Co.)—The Le-Ida Farm of Newville turned out to be a big winner during the Holstein Show at the Shippensburg Fair.

Le-Ida achieved that status by taking both the premier breeders award and the premier exhibition award for the show.

There were several multiple winners during the show, however.

Jeffrey Reasner of Shippensburg captured the senior and grand champion open titles with his 5-year-old, C Warrenton CC Michelle. He also won the best udder class with that animal.

Elizabeth L. Walton of Carlisle took the 4-H senior and grand champion awards with her 4-year-old, Fountain Farm Lead Molly. That same cow also earned Walton the best animal bred and owned by an exhibitor award and was picked as the reserve grand champion in the open competition.

The reserve senior and grand champion spots were captured by Brad Varner of Newville with his cow in the 6 years and over class, Le-Ida Astro Jet Lace-Twin.

AgrAbility Helps Farmers Stay In Field

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Tractors, combines, pesticides, livestock, and other tools of the agricultural trade make farming a risky profession. About 250 Pennsylvanians are permanently disabled by farm accidents every year, and many wind up leaving the agricultural profession.

A new statewide effort will help them stay in farming. AgrAbility for Pennsylvanians, a cooperative program of Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences and the Easter Seal Society of Central Pennsylvania, helps agricultural workers and their families cope with conditions that restrict their ability to perform farm tasks.

"AgrAbility for Pennsylvanians is concerned with more than farm accidents," said the project's director, Connie Baggett, associate professor of agricultural and extension education. "This project assists agricultural workers who have suffered heart attacks, strokes, lung diseases, breathing disorders and other maladies that hinder their ability to be active in the agricultural industry."

"Farmers have unique rehabilitation needs because of equipment operation, handling of animals, and other physically demanding tasks," said Doug Schaufler, project associate in agricultural and extension education and AgrAbility program manager. "But many farm families lack access to traditional rehabilitation services because farms are often in isolated areas and farm tasks cannot wait while the family seeks services.

"Our goal is to make rehabilitation services and information more accessible to the farm families that need them," he said.

To meet that goal, AgrAbility works with rehabilitation counselors, occupational and physical therapists and others to make sure farmers with disabilities know their options and can remain active in the agricultural community. The program also offers direct on-site services for farmers, including suggestions for modifying the farm or home; suggestions for adapting and modifying tools and equipment; and referrals to community rehabilitation resources.

AgrAbility's community services include efforts to raise awareness of the unique challenges faced by farmers with disabilities, specialized training for rehabilitation professionals and therapists, and educational programs on preventing farm injuries.

Penn State faculty members U.B. Bakker, associate professor of 4-H youth; James Hilton, associate professor of agricultural engineering and agricultural education; and Dennis Murphy, professor of agricultural engineering, provide expertise for the project.

According to the National Safety Council, approximately 130,000 people suffer disabling injuries on U.S. farms every year, each costing approximately $27,000 in medical expenses, lost wages and other expenses.

The National AgrAbility Project was established by Congress in 1991 to close gaps in rural services that denied people with disabilities the ability to earn their living in agriculture. A grant from the U.S. Department of Agriculture has enabled Pennsylvania to join 18 other states in providing guidance on adapting and using modified farm equipment and tools, making buildings and homes more accessible and changing farm operations to accommodate a disability.

For more information about AgrAbility for Pennsylvanians, contact Doug Schaufler at (814) 863-7868.

Local Auctioneers Attend Convention

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. — C. Sherman Allen and Daniel Trace of C. Sherman Allen, Auctioneer and Associates in Conneaut Lake, Pa. were among the auctioneers from throughout the United States and Canada who attended the recent 1995 National Auctioneers (NAA) National Convention.

NAA conducted 33 workshops. Some of the subjects covered at this year's convention included conducting real estate, personal property, commercial/heavy equipment, and agribusiness auctions. The increasing complexity of today's business world makes education programs like these indispensable.

In addition to NAA workshops, seminars were conducted by the Auction Marketing Institute, National Auctioneers Foundation, National Auctioneers Association Auxiliary, and various vendors.

The 1994 Men's and Women's Division International Auctioneer Champions were selected during the convention, and three members were recognized for their contribution of their profession by their induction into the NAA Hall of Fame. Robin Marshall of Elm Creek, Neb., was installed as the 1995-1996 president of the 5,800-member organization.

Robin Marshall, left, new president of the NAA from Elm Creek, Nebraska is being congratulated here by C. Sherman Allen of Conneaut Lake, Pa. Both Auctioneers were in attendance at the NAA Convention held at Niagara Falls, N.Y.

NAA, along with state associations, strives to improve the auction industry through professionalism, continuing education, and improved communication. National Auctioneers Association is headquartered in Overland Park, Kan.

C. Sherman Allen Auctioneer & Associates specialize in all types of auctions in the tri-county area.

Company Receives National Recognition

DEKALB, Ill. — Dekalb Swine Breeders, Inc. bested 16 other companies to receive national recognition for its training program with a community college.

Ben Standard, responsible for Dekalb's Foundation Farm training programs, accepted the 1995 National Exemplary Business Involvement Award for the company in Washington, D.C. The award was presented by the National Association of State Councils on Vocational Education at its national convention.

Dekalb Swine Breeders' president Roy Poage said the company was honored to receive this award over other state winners. Earlier this year, the company was selected as the Kansas state winner for what judges called "a unique business approach to meeting its need for qualified employees by creating a training program with an educational institution."

The company and Seward County Community College began working together in 1990 to address the shortage of labor within the swine industry. "In the last decade, swine production has become a highly technical industry," said Poage. "The two-year associate's degree program prepares students for employment in swine production, and Dekalb offers suitable graduates a job."

Six students are admitted to the program each fall. Because the program requires a full-time commitment, Dekalb provides a scholarship to support the students' tuition, room and board, books and allowance for personal expenses. Students spend half-days in classes conducted at the college and half-days on the job with Dekalb.

Company Receives EPA Registration For Transgenic Corn

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Ciba Seeds, a division of Ciba, received registration from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) for commercial marketing, sale, and use of corn hybrids genetically engineered for protection against crop pests.

This decision by EPA represents the final regulatory approval required for Ciba Seeds to market and sell transgenic hybrid corn seed to U.S. corn growers for the 1996 growing season.

The product will be available as Ciba Seeds' Maximizer™ hybrid corn and will be identified as having Knock*Out*™ built-in corn borer control.

The USDA recently deregulated all use of this hybrid corn seed. The Food and Drug Administration has concluded its consultation process with Ciba Seeds under its policies that cover transgenic crops.

These hybrids are genetically modified to produce a protein that provides protection against European corn borer, an insect pest that annually costs U.S. corn producers nearly $1 billion in yield losses. In 1994, Ciba Seeds submitted extensive data packages to both the EPA and USDA in support of federal regulatory pre-market approval.

Since 1992, Ciba seeds has conducted extensive field trials in the U.S. and abroad of Maximizer hybrids.

No-Till Drill Handles Planting Needs

SALLINA, Kan. — The new Great Plains 12-foot End Wheel No-Till drill utilizes all the benefits of Great Plains no-till technology in a size designed to handle the planting needs of small to medium sized operations.

Its 10¾ -inch opener and coulter stagger provides for increased trash flow. "T"-handle depth control and solid seed tubes ensure accurate seed placement. Straight-arm, solid stand openers with a cushioned press wheel provide maximum down pressure with less wear and tear.

The large, fully-welded seed box holds up to 2.4 bushels per foot. Great Plains fluted feed seed cups and 4-speed gearbox deliver outstanding accuracy in varying rates and seeding conditions. The unit comes equipped with transport safety lights and wider walkboard. Options include flat fold markers, coil tine harrow, seed box agitator, and small seeds attachments.

New Brand Logo

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — Northrup King Co. has introduced a new blue and green logo that is designed to communicate the company's prominent role within Sandoz Seeds, a leader in seed research, production and marketing.

While Northrup King's colors have changed, the familiar Northrup King "NK" brand remains a part of the new logo.

"We've been a part of Sandoz for nearly 20 years," said Kent Schulze, president and CEO of Northrup King. "With the introduction of our new brand logo, we're simply saying that Northrup King customers are supported by a worldwide network of research-based seed companies and a team of more than 900 Sandoz Seeds researchers."

Sandoz Ltd., Basel, Switzerland, first entered the seed industry two decades ago, when it acquired Rogers Brothers Seed Co. in 1975. The following year, the company purchased Northrup King, and later, it added Hilleshog and S&G Seeds. Today, these diversified businesses form Sandoz Seeds.

"The logo change gives all of these Sandoz Seeds companies a consistent brand identity worldwide, and makes it easier to communicate the value of that association by linking all four brands visually," Schulze said.

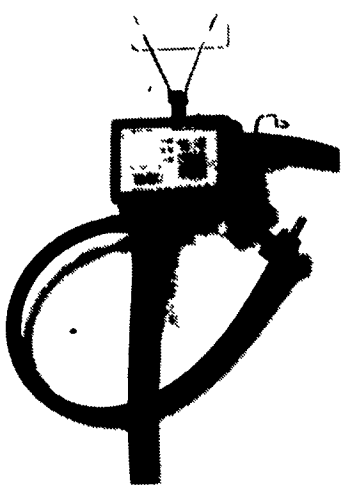
Stanchion Barn Pulsator Has Adjustable Flow Rates



Westfalia has released its latest stanchion barn pulsator.

ELK GROVE VILLAGE, Ill.—Westfalia has released its latest stanchion barn pulsator.

The Autopuls C is the newest pulsator added to Westfalia's line of independent microprocessor-controlled and operated pulsators.

This electronically controlled 24V pulsator with end of milking indicator helps provide the individual attention each cow deserves. Easily adjustable are both the milk:rest ratio and the pulsation rate. Also adjustable are the end of milk flow rates and the "memory strip time."

An easily visible red light blinks when the cow is near milk-out and illuminates continuously when she is completely milked out. To prevent overmilking, the pulsator will shut off in the rest phase at the end of milking.

Rotary Cutter Has New Features

SELMA, Ala. — Bush Hog's model 2615 rotary cutter has more than 10 new features for 1995 and a new name.

Now called the 2615Legend, "the rotary cutter is based on the 2615 design that is operating on thousands of acres across North America," said Robert O. Moore, Bush Hog vice president, sales. The 2615Legend includes new features that make it even more efficient and rugged.

"Increased performance results from an increase from 8 to 10 inches in band depth to reduce blade to deck contact," Moore said. "Springs on axles absorb shocks at the impact point. Bushings in wing axle turnbuckles reduce wear."

Maintenance has been made easier with flip-up gearbox shields for easier slip clutch maintenance and easy lube driveline design, transport lock which facilitates quick removal of the hydraulic height-control cylinder and bolt-in-place axle tube for easy removal.

National FFA Convention To Focus On Leadership

ALEXANDRIA, Va. — "Leadership for a Lifetime" is the theme for the 68th Annual National FFA Convention, symbolizing the agricultural education organization's mission to develop enthusiastic leaders for America and the agriculture industry.

More than 34,000 FFA members, advisors, supporters and guests are expected to attend the convention Nov. 9-11 in the Municipal Auditorium and H. Roe Bartle Hall in Kansas, City, Mo., only a few blocks from where the FFA was founded in 1928.

"Agriculture offers exceptional opportunities for today's young people," said Larry D. Case, national FFA adviser. "The national FFA convention provides many ways for members to learn about the industry as they work with business leaders, meet members from other states, attend the Agricultural Career Show, participate in skills events, and attend personal growth workshops and educational tours. The energy, excitement, and leadership potential generated when this group assembles is remarkable."

The national convention, the culmination of a year's activities for FFA members, is an opportunity for recognition, business, elections, and celebration. Delegates from each state will discuss topics affecting the national organization and elect a new team of national officers. Exceptional members and supporters will receive awards for their achievement and commitment to the FFA. Students will compete in finals rounds of several events, including speaking and parliamentary procedure competitions.

Opportunities for personal growth and leadership development continue with presentations by educational and motivational speakers including John Alston, motivational speaker; Emanuel Cleaver, mayor of Kansas City; Diana Golden, Olympic gold medal skater; Fred McClure, motivational speaker and former national FFA secretary from Texas; Jeanne Robertson, humorist; and David Toma, former New York City policeman. Other speakers will be announced as they are confirmed.

Future education and career exploration also are key components of the convention. Students will have the opportunity to meet business and industry supporters of the FFA, represented through the National FFA Foundation and 1995 Sponsors' Board chaired by H.D. Cleberg, president and chief executive officer of Farmland Industries, Inc. Thousands of exhibitors will provide information about education and career possibilities at the concurrent National FFA Alumni Convention and FFA National Agricultural Career Show.

The FFA National Officers, a team of six student leaders, help plan the convention and other activities and represent the FFA on a national level. The officers kick off the convention the afternoon and evening of Nov. 8 with the opening Reflections sessions, a series of dramatic and motivational presentations that generate excitement and set the theme for the convention. The 1994-1995 National FFA Officers are Corey D. Flournoy, national president from Chicago, Ill.; Travis Hagen, national secretary from Chico, Calif.; Trisha Bailey, southern region vice president from Dover, Fla.; Jennafer Neufeld, central region vice president from Inman, Kan.; Greg Vetter, western region vice president from Carpenter, Wyo.; and Lee Schroeder, eastern region vice president from Leipsic, Ohio.

New Photo ID Kit

According to Maria Lalicata, Polaroid marketing manager, the Polaroid Animal Documentation Kit was developed as part of a new "partnering" arrangement with the Holstein Association, Brattleboro, VT.

"Our arrangement responds directly to requests from Holstein members to streamline cattle identification requirements for registry with the association. Polaroid instant photography plays a key role in simplifying this process through its immediacy and convenience," Lalicata said.

The new Polaroid Animal Documentation Kit consists of a Polaroid 600 Business Edition Camera, a pack of high definition film, a Polaroid camera bag, and an erasable clipboard with marker. The special kit price to Holstein Association members is $59.95.

York County To Host National Plowing Contest

JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

MANCHESTER (York Co.) — Plowmen from across the country are fine-tuning their favorite plows and practicing turning deep, straight furrows in anticipation of the upcoming annual National Plowing Contest.

Some 35 plowing competitors from as far away as Minnesota are entered in the annual contest, scheduled during the Old Tyme Days and the 122nd Great Granger Fair, Wednesday, Aug. 23 through Sunday, Aug. 26, at the Robert Rentzel farm north of Manchester. This year's event also includes the national meeting of the J.I. Case Collectors Association.

A plowing seminar, offering tips from veteran contestants, begins the activities at 1 p.m. on Aug. 23. National competition is planned in three categories, small, large, and antique plows. Garden tractor and horse plowing contests are also scheduled in the lineup.

State plowing opens the official competition, beginning at 10:30 a.m. on Thursday, Aug. 24. A plowmen's banquet for competitors and guests is planned for that evening, beginning at 7 p.m. at the show site. Tickets are $8 per person.

National small plowing gets under way Friday morning at 9 a.m., with the large plow contest following at noon. An awards program is planned for 3 p.m. Antique plows take to the field on Saturday morning, beginning at 10 a.m., with horse plowing scheduled for 2 p.m. and awards presentations to follow.

Displays of antique equipment will include an array of items manufactured by the J.I. Case Company, including three Case automobiles tentatively lined up for the show. Demonstrations of antique and steam-powered equipment are also planned throughout the four-day Old Tyme Days.

The Old Tyme Days site is located one mile north of Manchester, York County, off Route 181. Organizers plan to post signs from Rt. 83.

For more information, contact Bob Rentzel, (717) 266-4490; Chuck Noonan (717) 755-9465; or Bob Miller, (717) 692-2443.

Patz Belt Feeders Adapt to Your Setup

Feed one to six lots different rations.

End loading can minimize conveyor investment. You can even convey and feed with one machine to save time and money.

Choice of 12-inch or 16-inch belt. Concave trough carries more feed.

For prompt, dependable service and a good supply of parts see:

Model 98C Gathering-chain Unloader Increases Blowing Capacity

Big blower handles high volumes.
Four impeller blades adjust for close tolerance and efficient blowing.
Stainless steel blower is available.
Proven cutter-and-claw gathering chain provides high-volume delivery in frozen and hard packed silage.
Fully automatic unloading because the 98C is self-propelled on the silage without cable support. No winch watching!
Depth-of-cut control ensures high-volume delivery.
Automatic self-leveling for uniform silage removal, saving trips up the silo.
All parts go up the chute to install easily anytime.
For 12 to 30 ft. silos.
Patz financing offers affordable rates.
Owners of Patz 61, 66, 98, 98A, and 98B unloaders: This bigger blower will fit your unloader.

THINK CONCRETE WHEN PLANNING YOUR FEED STORAGE!!

"This is the kind of silo you need to protect your valuable feed."

The major costs on dairy and livestock farms are related to FEED: production...harvesting...storage...purchases...delivery to animals. Significant savings in time and money are possible when you store and deliver your feed from a poured concrete silo.

"As margins narrow, dairymen need to invest in efficiency: This can have as great an influence on Profit as milk price changes."

Protect your valuable feeds from rain, sleet, snow, mud, ice, wind and the sun's heat. Reduce the stress. INCREASE THE EFFICIENCY OF YOUR FEEDS, LABOR, AND LIVESTOCK!

At Sollenberger Silos Corp. we know a lot about feed storage and handling; we've been in the business since 1908. If your plans call for new feed storage, give us a call...We'd like to contribute to your success!!

NO USED SILOS!
NO REBUILT SILOS!
NO PRE-OWNED SILOS!
ALL NEW FOR YOU.

MEMBER: International Silo Association/PA Forage and Grassland Council/AM. Society of Agricultral Engineers/Crop Storage Institute.

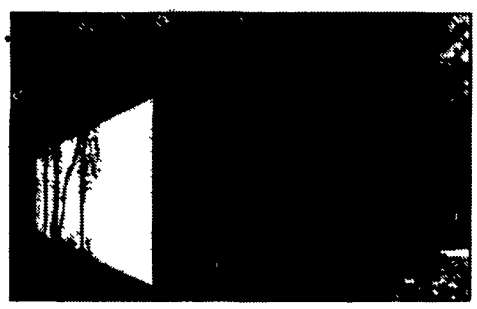
Side with Alumax ALU-TUFF Steel



When you put up a building, you expect it to be attractive and to last. A building constructed with ALU-TUFF will meet those expectations. That's because ALU-TUFF is made using top-quality materials, super-tough protective coatings, and a unique rib design that's both functional and attractive.

Years from now when other buildings are starting to show their age, your building will still look good.

- A STRONG PROFILE
  High 3/4-inch ribs on nine-inch centers give ALU-TUFF exceptionally high spanning properties for its weight and thickness, while stiffening ribs in flat areas prevent rippling.
- MADE TO LAST
  To keep Alu-Tuff working hard and looking good for years to come, we protect it with an oven-cured system of four different coatings.
- A GREAT LOOKING PANEL
  You don't have to sacrifice good looks to get a tough steel panel.
- MORE QUALITY FEATURES
  Each ALU-TUFF sheet is 38 inches wide to provide 36-inch coverage. That's wide enough to minimize the number of side laps, yet narrow enough to be easy to handle.

Best in the Country

For rough duty, rougher weather: Rugged, practical, cost-efficient Centurydrain™ roofing and siding.

Centurydrain is the roofing and siding to use for a strong, tight structure that'll carry you through the years of heavy snows, driving rain, and ripping winds.

Wheeling Centurydrain is a pure practically: full-hard, high tensile steel; galvanized for toughness, durability, and rust resistance; and with an exclusive drain channel for dry, snug interior.

Handsome appearance, too: bold shadow lines and choice of rich, baked-on colors. The best in the country is right here, Stop by.

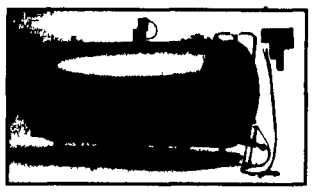
DAIRY FARM EQUIPMENT

Scroll-Compressor Technology
New in 1994



You may pay less for some dairy farm equipment... but it can cost you more!

In the long run, total operating costs of a Mueller milk-cooling system are generally substantially less than those of "bargain-brand" milk-cooling equipment.

Example	Mueller	Competition
Cost of equipment	$31,000	$28,000
Cost of electricity @ .08 kW for 12,000 lbs milk ely for 10 years	$17,550	$22,850
Total operating cost for ten years	$48,550	$50,850
Savings	$ 2,300

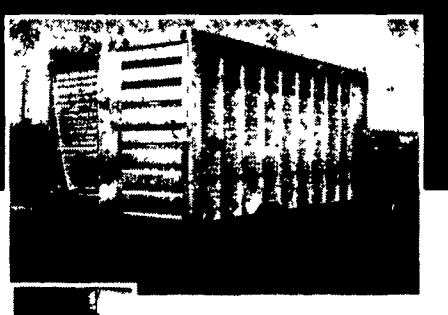
Agriculture Moves on EBY Bodies



M.H. Eby custom-builds aluminum truck bodies for the agri-transportation market. Nobody offers more sizes and options in:

- LIVESTOCK BODIES - Lengths to 32', choice of heights and widths.
- GRAIN BODIES - Lengths to 24'; landscape and general purpose dumps to 12'.
- FLATBED BODIES - Lengths to 32', choice of 5 widths.

For greater payload capacity, Eby's aluminum design is equal in strength to steel and up to 40% lighter. Our corrosion-resistant components never need painting. That means minimum maintenance, improved appearance and higher resale value.

Eby products have superior standard features. And we offer custom options for virtually any application. Agriculture is your business- building bodies to haul it is ours.

Let EBY custom build one for you.

NEW LISTING: TIOGA CO.: This farm can be purchased as a turnkey operation. There are 430 acres of prime Plateau farmland in high state of cultivation. There is a 122 comfort stall barn, 4 Harvestore silos, a 400,000 gal. Harvestore Slurry, Concrete silo, 3 dwellings and much much more. If you want to buy just the land it can be bought that way as well. There is extra land for lease in the area at $10.00 to $20.00 per acre. Fly in to the Wellsboro airport and I'll meet you there and you will have a personal tour. We can take a view from the air in your plane or a rental. Crops are consistently good in the Plateau of Tioga County. See it today by land or by air.

TIOGA CO. Relisted reduced 241 acres of plateau farmland in high state of production. This was a potato farm with 3 large storage barns that could be used for many other uses. There is no residence but a nearby residence could be purchased. There is a large pond and the price is right for a quick sale.

YORK CO. This 653 acre pork operation can be purchased several ways. Buy the buildings and 20 acres or 281 acres. We have interested parties in the raw land so if you want a customized purchase call me and I'll work out the details. There are 2 large buildings. 1 is 105' by 500' and the other is 105' by 600' plus the generator room, office and misc. Accessory facilities. Priced at $2,500,000 but as stated above we'll work the purchase around your needs and desires.

PERRY CO. 2 new listings The first is an 80 comfort stall dairy barn w/3 silo's young stock facilities and implement sheds. This is an excellent farm in high state of cultivation and ready for a fall settlement. The Brick farmhouse is exceptional and the in-law or hired help living quarters are real nice too.

The second farm is approx. 125 acres with room for approx. 100 head of beef or put in a parlor and have a free stall or loose housing area dairy. This brick farmhouse is exceptional also. Be ready to see either one any time after the 31st when I'll be back in my office.

PERRY CO. 44 acre Amish farmhouse w/5 bedrooms horse barn and woodworking shop 36' by 52' the buildings are only 5 years old and in very nice shape. Electric could be added very easily. 7 ac. Amish farmhouse adjacent to the other one. This is a father & son owned property but has a 50' right of way to the properties that sit off of the road approx. 400' to 500'.

- New top-of-line bias-ply tractor rear, featuring our long bar/long bar design for tread stability, and heavy bar bracing to extend tread life.
- Long wearing and smooth riding, due to the more uniform, flatter contour of the long bar/long bar design.
- Proven 23° bar angle for traction and open center for self-cleaning.
- Bead and rim protector shields the rim to help keep stubble and soil from getting between the bead and rim flange.

SIMPLY GRAND

Kubota introduces their new Grand L-Series diesel tractors. Compact models ranging from 25 to 37 PTO HP, with the features and options to work any farm or ranch.

The 2WD and 4WD Grand L-Series are powered by Kubota's low noise and vibration ETVCS diesel engines.

Choose from Kubota's Glide Shift or Shuttle Transmissions. A Creep Speed option is available for planting and spraying.

Tilt wheel, power steering and full-floating ISO-mounted operator's deck lets you work in comfort. Optional cab available for the L3600 and L4200.

Heavy-duty hydraulic system and hefty 3-point hitch keeps the Grand L-Series working from seed to harvest.

Take a look at a Grand L-Series today, and see why we call them simply grand.

Cultimulcher In Stock For Fall Seeding and For Clod Busting Action See Binkley & Hurst Bros. Now For A New 13'10" Cultimulcher In Stock! With Quality Features!

We Are Ready To Deliver!

Weight Transfer is needed on some fields for best mulching results Unique Farmhand system allows weight to be distributed between the front and rear rollers and the draw bar as needed.

Bearings on torsion-mounted hangers and roller tool bars combine with split roller axles to isolate shock loads. Up to 12 triple-lip sealed, self-aligning ball bearings are used on the main frame of each machine.

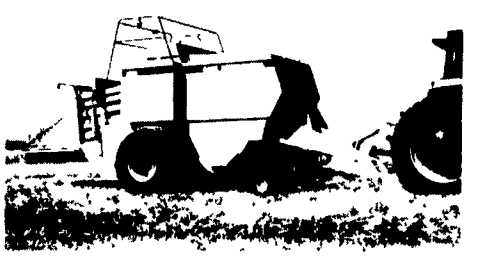
JUMBO BALES

A Case International 8580 large rectangular baler makes JUMBO bales - up to 2,000 pounds.

It compresses hay equivalent to about 40 conventional bales into a single high-density package. The high-end capacity and performance of the 8580 means you can push these big bales through the machine all day — every day. That's a lot of hay!

And it's quality hay, too. The center-line design handles the crop gently to preserve nutritious leaves. The bales are uniformly shaped for efficient handling and shipping.



The 8580 also has a full list of standard features. Low-profile pickup, pre-packed chamber, massive gearbox, heavy-duty components throughout, electronic monitoring, double-tie knotters and low maintenance. And it's simple to operate.

The Case International 8580 is a JUMBO value, too.

For Compact - Quality - Economy Balers See Binkley & Hurst Bros. Today! Model 8420 Round Baler

Nobody Does Hay Better

The revolutionary MoCo's are here

- Six models, all with an innovative, three-point suspension system for unmatched flotation.
- Three sicklebar models: Narrow-profile guards, easy adjustments, exclusive urethane-roll conditioning, and a cut thats six inches wider than other makes.
- Three rotary models: John Deere-built modular cutterbar is the strongest, easiest-to service cutter-bar. A choice of conditioning methods at all widths.
- Get excellent maneuverability plus driveline protection from the new tongue design.

Patz Mixing T.M.R. The Way You Want

Open-Top Mixers

Self-aligning auger bearings mounted outside. Flanged auger tubes for easy removal.

Planetary gear reducers and roller chain reduction power the augers. Roller chains operate in enclosed oil bath.

On trailer and truck models, the discharge door and discharge augers are controlled hydraulically. Also, gravity discharge is available.

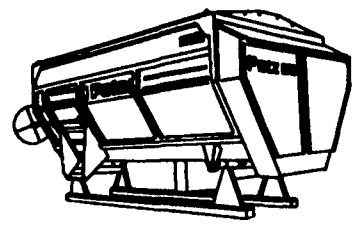
Trailer-mounted auger mixers



Stationary auger mixers

Tumble Mixers

Tumble mixing plus a central spiral circulator moving ingredients to the back of the drum while fliting moves ingredients forward.

No internal bearings.

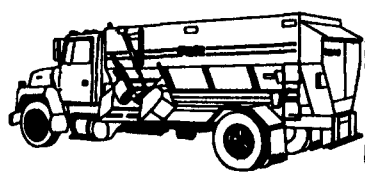
4 sizes from 135 to 290 cubic feet.



Truck-mounted auger mixers

All Mixers Manufactured by Patz

0% FINANCING with 25% Down for 18 months on mixer purchases made before Sept. 30, 1995

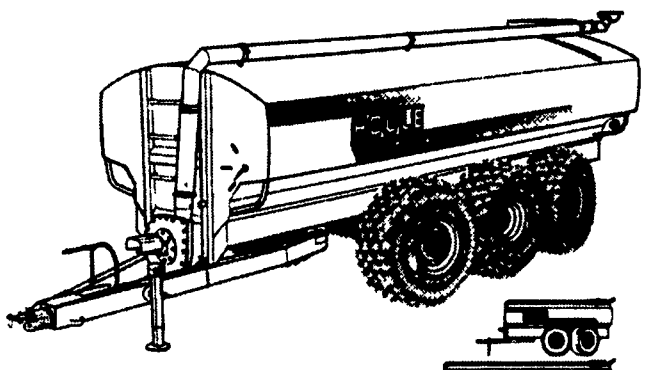
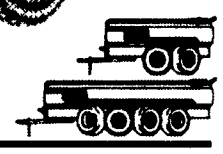
HOULE

LIQUID MANURE SPREADER

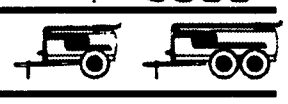
WITH FLOTATION TIRES TO MINIMIZE SOIL COMPACTION
Available with complete line of spreading tool bars and precise flow control to spread manure the ecological way eliminating spray drift and reducing odors. Our tool bars are designed to apply hog or dairy manure on growing fields, between rows of corn or on harvested fields.



4-6 OR 8 WHEEL SPREADERS WITH POWER STEERING-3850 TO 9500 US GAL.



SPREADERS WITH SINGLE AXLE OR TANDEM-2350 TO 6000 US GAL.

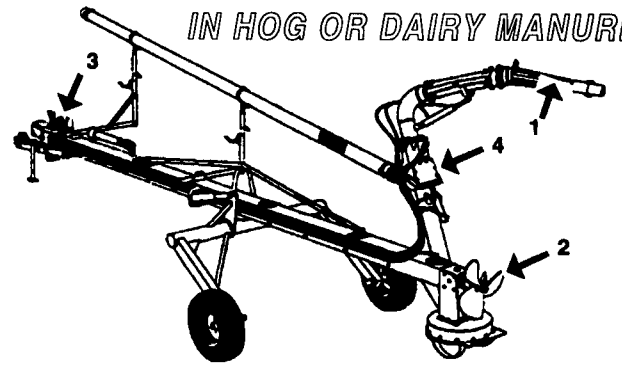


- "V" shape bottom for more complete clean out.
- Standard exterior finish: epoxy primer and urethane paint.
- Low profile tank for maximum visibility and stability.

TRAIL AGI-POMPE

32' and 42' for Lagoons

GREAT PERFORMANCE IN HOG OR DAIRY MANURE



1-Highly articulated nozzle designed to slice and break the top crust from above the manure level as the propeller homogenises the liquid with the remaining floating chunks.

2-24" dia. mixing propeller providing full time agitation up to 21,500 US G.P.M. even when loading a spreader.

3- Hydraulic controls can be operated from tractor seat.

4-Rotative directional valve designed to be operated at low R.P.M. without stopping the P.T.O.

Gear box oil bath protected by a greasable 3 seals mechanism on each shaft.

AVAILABLE WITH MULTIPURPOSE OPTION TO ALSO CLIMB INTO CONCRETE PITS UP TO 14' DEEP.

CLAAS Forage Harvesters

Sharp knives for a precise chop

The intake housing can be quickly folded down from the cylinder housing. You can then inspect the shearbar and the drum easily and in no time, and adjust the knives to contact with the shearbar. In seconds and without tools.
The power transmission from the engine to the chopping cylinder is as direct as can be, without any detours. A single multi-vee powerband keeps the speed steady at all times and features very high efficiency.
Using the low pressure hydraulic system, the driver engages a single plate dry clutch which sets the permanently tensioned belt in motion. Straightforward design with high mechanical efficiency.
The impressive CLAAS chopping cylinder is a full 29.5" wide, has 20 or 24 knives in V-formation and the JAGUAR 880 and 860 reach a cutting frequency of 14,400 cuts per mintue. The knives are adjusted to just touch the shearbar. This contact adjustment is done without tools, and guarantees the top quality chop for which the JAGUAR range is famous.
The intake housing is in one piece, and can be quickly separated from the cylinder housing. This way, you gain unimpeded access to the cylinder without delay.
Sharp knives and exact shearbar adjustment keep output high and fuel costs low. These new machines feature as standard an automatic sharpening system.
The drum is sharpened while rotating forwards, and is sharpened up after just a few passes.
Electrical shearbar adjustment from the driver's seat is an agreeable refinement. You simply preselect the number of passes for grinding, set the required distance of the knives to the shearbar, and press a switch. The complete operation is automatic.

Maximum productivity starts with the ultimate engine.

In laboratory tests and in the field, MF tractors are proven to deliver more work from the same horsepower and fuel

Massey Ferguson engines are designed from the drain-plug up to deliver the performance you need for the real world of farming

Start heavy loads without excessive engine RPMs and clutch slipping
MF engines are designed with an exceptionally high torque curve at low engine speeds

Accelerate rapidly to operating speeds
A rapid torque rise at low engine RPMs gets you quickly up to speed without the risk of stalling common to other engines

Save fuel and wear with lighter loads
When your job doesn t require full engine horsepower, you can confi dently throttle back to reduce fuel consumption and engine wear without risking engine stall With the Economy PTO feature on MF 6100 Series tractors (See page 19) you maintain full PTO speeds while operating at a lower throttle setting

Power through tough spots without stalling or shifting
When operating under maximum load torque rises rapidly when a tough spot pulls down the engine speed The results are a boost in torque that keeps you going strong

Benefit from long engine life and reliability
Large efficient cooling and lubricating capacity keeps MF engines running at their most efficient and reliable temperatures under even the most severe conditions

Enjoy quick, easy service and maintenance
From daily routine maintenance to major repairs MF tractors are designed for fast simple and inexpensive service

DynaTorque™
MF DynaTorque™ engines feature an exclusive combustion system that tunes power and torque delivery to match the way you work
In Zone A as engine speed drops under load a rapid boost in torque keeps you going with less slowdown
Maximum torque is reached in Zone B to bring engine rpm back and get you through those tough conditions
DynaTorque engines also let you easily start heavy loads at low engine rpm quickly bring them up to operating speed and handle lighter loads at reduced engine speeds

INTRODUCING NEW

WHAT IS IT?

A liquid, buffered acid product which can be sprayed on small square, large square, and large round bales of hay.

WHAT DOES IT DO?

It helps prevent mold growth and preserves hay at moistures up to 30%. Maxi-Bale also has an active ingredient that will maintain the color of your hay.

WHY USE IT?

- Cut down on drying time.
- Bale hay more hours of the day even with dew moisture
- Less leaf loss
- Beat the rains and save your crops
- Available in 15 and 55 gallon drums

Purina Maxi-Bale has a very high level of active ingredients which will work at higher moistures than other products. Compare Purina Maxi-Bale with the product you're currently using and you will see the difference.

Contact your local Purina Dealer or Purina Representative for specials on Maxi-Bale and application equipment.
